Urges Iowa Progressives to Support Men Who Stand for Clean Politics

DES MOINES, Ia., Sept. 23.—"My main plea to you here in Iowa is that you vote as you really think, and do not permit yourselves to let loyalty to names make you disloyal to principles," Col. Theodore Roosevelt said to his hearers at a meeting of Progressives tonight. "As at present controlled and managed, the Democratic and Republican parties are as poor instruments with which to work out the welfare of the country as were the Democratic and Whig parties 60 years ago when the Republican party was first founded.

"Abraham Lincoln was then a man of middle age, and all his life long had been a Whig. F. L. Packard Loses Life When Engines Are Ditched in Granite Canon

F. L. Packard of Florissant, a fireman, was instantly killed when both engines on Colorado Midland passenger train No. 5 were ditched in Granite canon, 40 miles west of Colorado Springs, yesterday afternoon at 3:20 o'clock. S. A. Wilson of Colorado City, the other fireman, sustained a broken arm and was badly scalded by steam. He was rushed to St. Francis hospital here, where his condition is said to be critical.

The accident is said to have been caused by a broken rail, though no official reports have been made.

Engineers W. N. Hemenway and C. B. Oren, both of Colorado City, narrowly escaped serious injury and possible death, jumping from their cabs as the locomotives rolled over. No cars left the track and no passengers were injured.

The train was traveling at the rate of about 20 miles an hour, and there was no warning of danger until the engines left the track. Neither fireman had an opportunity to jump, the locomotives falling on the side on which they were seated and pinning them down beneath. Being on the opposite side the engineers got away safely.

The train was a coast train, leaving this city at 12:20 p. m. The passengers were transferred to another westbound train at Littledale, near the scene of the accident.

Packard's body was sent to Florissant.

Traffic on the road was [illegible] until about midnight.

Colorado Platform "Contract With the People;" Urges Law Enforcement

CONDEMN STRIKE VIOLENCE

All Three Parties Declare Attitude on Industrial Controversy

DENVER, Sept. 23.—The attitude of the Democratic, Republican and Progressive parties of Colorado upon issues growing out of the Colorado coal strike, the liquor question and numerous other questions was set forth in the party platforms made public here today after two days' session by the candidates of each party. All discussed the question of law enforcement in labor troubles at length.

The Democrats favored the adoption of the three-year truce as proposed by President Wilson; the Republicans condemned all law violators and pledged a strict enforcement of Colorado [illegible] and the Progressives urged the enactment of a constitutional amendment to make coal mining a public utility.

The Republican and Democratic platforms favored local option. The Progressives pledged themselves to a just and impartial enforcement of the prohibition amendment if carried. By [illegible] declaration the Progressives [illegible] that the wishes of the supporters of the amendment that it be [illegible] a partisan matter is re[illegible]

All Favor Equal Suffrage.

All three parties urge the adoption of a federal equal suffrage amendment.

Upon issues growing out of the Colorado coal strike, the Progressive platform [illegible] ports the rights of habeas corpus, opposes the holding of prisoners incommunicado; opposes the imperial use of state troops in time of strike and indorses the sale of collective labor. Upon the matter of settling industrial controversies, the platform says:

"Both sides of an industrial conflict should stand ready for an investigation of grievances or for any fair plan of arbitration."

On the liquor question, the platform commends local option and opposes the making of prohibition a party issue, holding that the question should be left to the "judgment and conscience of the individual voter."

G. O. P. on State Issues.

Referring to law enforcement, the Republican platform says:

"In Colorado the supreme, great and paramount issue of the hour is the just, efficient and impartial enforcement of the laws of the state and we will not be diverted from this issue by those who have openly violated the laws, or by their sympathizers, attorneys or their bondsmen."

Upon the liquor question, the Republican platform says:

"With reference to the enforcement of the laws concerning the liquor traffic we take the same position that we take concerning the enforcement of other laws and pledge our best efforts to the just and impartial enforcement of all laws now existing or that may hereafter be enacted or adopted."

The Republican platform concludes with an appeal for peace in the European war.

"A Contract With the People."

The Progressives were in session until nearly midnight before their platform was completed. It was termed "a contract with the people" and indorses the candidacy of Theodore Roosevelt for the Progressive nomination in 1916.

Help the Red Cross Society

Members of the Committee of One Hundred of the Pikes Peak chapter of the American Red Cross society have started their intensive campaign for funds to aid in alleviating suffering on the battlefields of Europe.

To date nearly $2,600 has been raised, and those who are soliciting contributions are meeting with marked success.

It is likely that someone who is cheerfully devoting his or her time to the work will call on you today. You are under no obligation to contribute a penny—although morally it is your duty to aid the work of the Red Cross society in whatever way you can.

GENERAL CARRANZA, CALLED UPON TO PUT DOWN A NEW REVOLUTION

GEN. VILLA DECLARES WAR ON CARRANZA; MEXICO NOW FACES ANOTHER REVOLUTION

Northern Leader Repudiates [illegible] Chief and Soon Will Begin Hostilities; Causes Big Sensation in U. S.

EL PASO, Tex., Sept. 23.—Gen. Francisco Villa, dominant leader in northern Mexico, tonight denounced the central government headed by Venustiano Carranza and announced his independence in a statement sent to the Associated Press.

This placed the state of Chihuahua in open revolt against the party in power at Mexico City, as well as Sonora, the next border state to the west, where Governor Maytorena previously has proclaimed his independence from the Constitutionalist party as represented by Carranza.

All available troops under Villa's command were rushed tonight to meet what was reported as a strong force of Carranza's troops moving north from Zacatecas. Even the two brigades which were sent on an overland march into Sonora to assist the Maytorena revolt were recalled hurriedly. They passed through Juarez tonight on their way back to Chihuahua City, Villa's capital.

General Villa's statement, in which he asserted that besides Chihuahua and Sonora, Zacatecas and a part of Coahuila, Carranza's native state, had joined the uprising, was received here as follows:

Declares War on Carranza.

"In view of the attitude of Venustiano Carranza, which has been the cause of great injuries to our country, and since he could never govern a republic nor make happy a country which aspires to a real democracy, a country which wants to have a government emanating from the people subject to an interpertation of the national feelings, we have been obliged to renounce him as commander-in-chief of the Constitutionalist army in charge of the executive power; and we have declared hostilities, being disposed to fight until he is forced to abandon his power and place the same in the hands of the real representatives of the people, who are disposed to remedy all evils of the republic and to direct it through the proper road of progress and well-being.

"We are not in favor of personalism, but we are defenders of principles and consequently we will not fight against any other of the chiefs who have contributed to the downfall of the usurper Huerta, our difficulties being against the person of Venustiano Carranza. The states of Sonora and Zacatecas and a part of Coahuila have seconded up to the present our attitude, and shortly we will be joined by adherents from other localities. General Obregon will leave tonight for El Paso, Tex.

(Signed) "FRANCISCO VILLA."

Will Not Attend Convention.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—General Villa has telegraphed General Carranza disavowing the latter as first chief of the Constitutionalist army in charge of the executive power in Mexico. This was announced in a telegram from General Carranza tonight to the Constitutionalist agency here.

General Villa, at the same time, announced that neither he nor his delegates would participate in the national convention called for October 1 at Mexico City to designate a provisional president.

The exchange of telegrams resulted

PRES. WILSON STANDING BY STRIKE PLAN

Refuses to Change Attitude on Strike; Can't Act as Umpire, He Says

TROOPS MAY BE REMOVED

Other Mine Owners Give Views on Proposal Submitted by Federal Board

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—President Wilson today refused to change his attitude toward the Colorado coal strike condition and indicated that the mine operators must accept the basis of settlement already agreed to by the miners or stand responsible before the country for the result.

J. F. Welborn, president of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company, known as the "Rockefeller property," discussed the situation with the president and told him that some of the principal points of the basis of agreement did not meet with the approval of his concern. He proposed another plan of settlement, but Mr. Wilson refused to take it up.

It was said at the White house tonight that the president will stand behind the original plan of settlement, which was drawn up by a mine operator and a [illegible] named by Secretary of Labor Wilson. Mr. Welborn promised to lay the president's view before the other operators and then to send a final answer.

President Wilson has expressed his disinclination to allow federal troops to remain in the Colorado mine district much longer.

Can't Act as Umpire.

In answer to the objections of Mr. Welborn, the president declared he could not act as the umpire between the operators and the miners and that he felt it the duty of the operators to [illegible] the plan already adopted by the miners.

The president had expected to receive a [illegible] representing the [illegible] in the strike. Mr. Welborn told him that the other operators were unable to be present but would [illegible]. The president asked that Mr. Welborn tell the other operators that he could not accept a refusal of the plan.

Mr. Welborn presented an alternative plan for the solution of the strike trouble but the president refused to consider it, saying that he did not believe a compromise possible. The president declared that the public interests demanded the end of the strike and that it was the patriotic duty of the mine operators to accept the proposal.

Mr. Welborn declared after his interview with the president that the ques-

BRITISH AVIATORS MAKE RAID ON ZEPPELIN BASE TO TERRIFY GERMANS

Invasion Is Designed to Prevent Attack on London; Bombs Dropped on Hangars

Anglo French Armies Force Kaiser's Line to Fall Back Short Distance, as Desperate Assaults Are Directed Against Enemy's Right Wing; Russian Steam Roller Unchecked by Austrian Opposition

LONDON, Sept. 24.—(Thursday)—Again the status of the warfare on the long line in France remains unchanged, according to the official report of the French war office.

The battle has developed into a war of assault, with the allies in the role of attackers, against the strongly intrenched positions of the Germans. The French report says that in these circumstances progress of necessity must be slow.

The event of the day has been the flight of British naval aeroplanes from Antwerp to Dusseldorf, approximately a distance of 500 miles, in the course of which they dropped bombs on the Zeppelin sheds of the German aerial fleet which would cooperate with the German navy in case of a raid on England.

The official bureau intimates that the flight was undertaken as a warning to the Germans that if any more bombs are dropped on any unfortified towns in Belgium or France, the allies can retaliate. It is quite likely that the warning is also intended to include London, which has been looking for a visit from the Zeppelins for some days.

The flight of the British aeroplanes was one, so far as distance is concerned, that they are quite used to, as for some time the British flying men have been put to the test. They have made flights from Montrose, Scotland, to Salisbury, which is about the same distance as the round trip between Antwerp and the [illegible].

RUSSIANS CONTINUE VICTORIOUS IN GALICIA

In the eastern war zone the Russians report that they are still pursuing the retreating Austrians in Galicia, while on the German front the German and Russian armies are in close contact. No engagement has occurred as yet, however.

A press dispatch says that the Servians have retaken Liubovia from the Austrians and that the losses were heavy.

A news agency dispatch is authority for the statement that the Germans have intrenched and mined the approaches to Brussels and also are fortyfying the region around Ath, north east of Brussels, to prevent the Belgians falling on the Germans, should a retreat from France be forced.

CHINA TELLS GERMANS SHE CAN'T RESIST JAPANESE

In reply to Germany's protest against China's violation of neutrality by permitting Japanese troops to land on her soil, China said she was unable to defend her neutrality.

A German official report says the Russians lost in the battles near Tannenberg 150,000 men killed and 90,000 captured.

Another German report says that a single German submarine sank the three British cruisers in the North sea Tuesday. While the location of this daring torpedo attack has not been definitely established, it is assumed that it took place somewhere off the mouth of the Kiel canal. The latest estimate of the casualties in the disaster gives about 1,400 of the 2,200 officers and men on board the three warships as lost.

CHOLERA HAS BROKEN OUT AMONG AUSTRIANS

An official statement issued in Berlin says that the German art commission for Belgium reports that all art works and monumental buildings in Louvain and Liege were saved during the recent German bombardment.

A Vienna dispatch says the Hungarian minister of the interior reports that there have been nine cases of Asiatic cholera among the wounded in Hungary.

According to a dispatch received from Paris, a Russian cruiser has sunk a German cruiser and two German torpedo boats in the Baltic sea.

PRZEMYSL GOAL OF CZAR'S MIGHTY ARMY

In Galicia the Russians are pushing steadily on to their goal, which for the moment is Przemysl. They apparently have that place pretty well surrounded by now, for following the capture of Jaroslav they announce today the occupation of Wislok, a town on the Hungarian border southwest

General Joffre Trying to Turn Western End of Battle Line; Soissons Bombarded for Nine Days

PARIS, Sept. 23.—General Joffre, commander-in-chief of the French army, is devoting much attention to the western wing of the battle line, where the fighting has been incessant night and day. The allies since the beginning of the battle of the Aisne have pushed back the Germans a distance of nearly 11 miles, forcing them to seek a further defensive position on the plateaus and in the rough country, which offer excellent opportunities for intrenchment.

The headquarters' staff has been enabled to make a long movement forward to the north. The town of Soissons has been subjected to a furious German bombardment for nine days. The cannonade starts each day at dawn and continues until 8 o'clock in the evening. It then ceases and begins again at daybreak. The cathedral and other buildings have been greatly damaged.

Noyon Also Suffers.

The German artillery is posted to the northwest of the town, while the French guns occupy an emplacement to the southeast. There appears no necessity for the shells to fall on the town itself, as the French troops are stationed a considerable distance from it.

Noyon is also suffering from the German gun fire, but the fine cathedral up to the present has escaped.

Today's advance of the allied troops entailed very severe fighting, in which the artillery played a large part. The combat has lasted for 24 hours, but eventually the Germans yielded ground, after losing heavily. The allies suffered severely. Many ambulance trains have left the front for provincial cities, carrying German and French wounded. Large numbers of seriously wounded British officers and men have been transported to the American and other hospitals in Paris.

Gen. Dupuis Killed.

Among the killed today was General Dupuis, commander of the Sixty-seventh infantry brigade.

Eight American and British correspondents, arrested at Rheims on Monday for visiting that city without leave, have been released through the intervention of the American ambassador, Myron T. Herrick. The military governor of Paris announced today, however, that anyone using a temporary pass for leaving Paris to penetrate the fighting zone would be subject, without exception, to severe penalty. This is a precaution against spies, who appear to be numerous and adroit.

A resident of Maubeuge, who has just escaped from that town, says that that city during the siege was full of secret German agents. The French discovered a subterranean telephone which was being used by a German emissary to inform the German officers of the French dispositions. Every sortie of the garrison failed because the Germans were ready, apparently having been forewarned.

JOHN COUGHLIN'S HOME DESTROYED; LOSS $9,000

An eight-room frame house, occupied by Mrs. Nellie G. Hall at 631 Cheyenne boulevard, was completely destroyed by fire late last night. The loss of building and furnishings is estimated at $9,000, and is partially covered by insurance. The property was owned by John Coughlin of Chicago.

The origin of the fire is not known. Mrs. Hall and her daughter, Marie, were awakened by the reflection cast by the flames on the wall of their bedroom. The entire rear end of the house then was enveloped in flames. They made an effort to save some belongings, but were unable to carry out anything of value. Because of lack of water, the fire department could do nothing.

NATIONAL LEAD COMPANY

TRIP THROUGH BELGIUM, WHERE GERMAN TIDE SWEPT ALL BEFORE IT, IS LIKE TERRIBLE NIGHTMARE

All Work Stops at First Sign of Invaders; Ruin and Desolation Mute Evidence of the French and Belgian Retreat

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

ROTTERDAM, Sept. 11.—By imagining the sweep of a floodtide up a broad, tidal river one can picture the advance of the German army through Belgium—now creeping, now racing—defying resistance with each forward lunge. Temporarily deflected at such points as Liege and Namur, the body of it moved irresistibly forward, engulfing what it could not immediately destroy.

The result is a rumpled, depleted country, strewn with the flotsam of this tide shattered French epaulets and torn uniforms ground into the soil, shallow trenches filled with French guns broken at the stock, and French knapsacks with their contents spilled everywhere on the landscape.

Country Laid Waste.

At intervals there are newly made graves without a cross or stone to mark them, and every village, hospital, church, villa and chateau is crowded with the wounded. Fields which have escaped the scourge and in which harvests still stand in giant haycocks, pyramid-shaped like the monument which supports the lion at Waterloo, only emphasize the surrounding waste; the purple luster of cabbage beds and the vivid green of enormous beet fields look as much out of place as hotbeds in a morgue.

The impression is not to be given, however, that the greater part of Belgium, or even the sections over which the Germans have passed, has been left in ruins. It is the sudden flight of the inhabitants that has given the country its chief appearance of desolation. In hay fields mowing machines and carts are to be found in the exact position in which they were left by farmers in the midst of a day's work, with the prints of hoofs showing where the horses had been led away by German soldiers.

Like a Nightmare.

On the road from Soire-sur-Sambre, through Montignies, St. Christopher to Beaumont, along which the French were driven in headlong flight after two days' artillery engagement—August 24-25—the complete evacuation of the inhabitants left a sense of dreariness and utter depression which choked one like a nightmare.

Doors of houses still remained open, cattle bellowed from deserted barns and half-finished glasses of weak Belgian cognac marked places where groups had gathered and hastily dispersed. In this area not a human soul moved or breathed. It was like the unearthing of an ancient city like Pompeii stricken in the midst of its daily occupation without a sign of impending catastrophe.

In one house a neglected canary pecked at the bars of its cage, and a Belgian shepherd dog solemnly guarded the door. Along the road on each side French trenches at intervals of only a few hundred yards marked the French retreat.

Evidences of Retreat.

In the midst of the debris, I picked up a short blue coat belonging to a sergeant of the Eighteenth French zouave. Under it was a half picked chicken which the officer was apparently preparing to cook. There was also a spilled knapsack close at hand with a razor and toilet articles on the ground, and pinned under an empty champagne bottle, the interrupted letter of a French soldier. This read: "We are being slowly forced back by the Germans who are coming like a torrent. Through some blunder of our commander we have been separated from lancers and cuirassiers. But we make a last stand and——"

On the boundary line between France and Belgium lay the body of a French dragoon, clad in the resplendent uniform, coat striped with gold braid and flaring red trousers. He had fallen into a half dug trench, toward the foot of a towering stone monument which marked the frontier of his country.

Women and Children Do Work.

In other regions, where the Germans had passed without resistance, the peasants still pursued their daily chores as in times of peace. But it was the women and children who did the farm work. Some of these women complained that their husbands had been taken by the Germans as hostages to prevent sniping from the houses and had never returned. Women who kept small estaminets along the Belgian countryside were in the peculiar circumstance of having lost the contents of their wine cellars and having acquired tidy sums of German coin, which they could not use.

As a consequence, those who followed the German advance through Belgium found provisions and wines at a great premium, and very greatly depreciated German currency, which the natives were doing their best to dispose of. But, with a few exceptions, they bore their misfortunes with a resignation that was half stolid and half philosophic.

One woman showed a wrecked wine cellar, where German soldiers had first dined and then slept, a kitchen and cupboard denuded of everything remotely concerned with food and a house in a state of chaos which outraged her Belgian thrift; her husband, she said, had been one of those forced to march with the Germans, and she was left alone in a house impossible to dwell in. But she greeted correspondents with cheerfulness and hospitality.

THE OCTOBER AMERICAN MAGAZINE

In the October American magazine appears a thrilling letter from an American contributor now in Europe entitled "Pity the Women of Europe," in which the point is graphically made that in war time the men get some thrill out of the adventure and the new experience, but the women are left at home to suffer alone and to make the struggle to feed their children, with poverty and high prices staring them in the face.

In the same issue announcement is made of a new seris of articls by Ida M. Tarbell, "The Golden Rule in Business; How it Pays in Dollars and Cents, Personal Satisfaction and Human Happiness." Ray Stannard Baker writes entertainingly of a United States representative from California, who is the philosopher of congress. Walter Prichard Eaton, the theatrical critic, discusses a new epoch in the movies. "Jerry" Travers, four times amateur golf champion of the United States, tells how to get back on your game.

Fiction is contributed by Maravene Thompson, Marjorie Benton Cooke, Philip Curtis and others, and the Interesting People department contains five short articles about men and women in various parts of the country who are doing unusual things.

Humorous contributions are contributed by five great comic writers: James Montgomery Flagg, Stephen Leacock, George Fitch, Kin Hubbard and Gelett Burgess.

GUN TACKS SIGNS ON BUILDING WALLS

From the October Popular Mechanics Magazine.

A gun which shoots signs into place has been invented, which, in appearance, is not unlike a shotgun. The sign which it discharges is rolled tightly about a heavy stick and a cord is attached to a tack which is temporarily fastened, point out, at one end of this. The other end of the string is fastened to the top of the sign. When the instrument is loaded with one of these and the trigger pulled, heavy springs furnish the propelling force which sends the roll endwise through the air like an arrow, at whatever object it is aimed. The tack imbeds itself, while the jar of the impact loosens the sign and makes it unroll, falling into place. Posters have been placed at heights of 80 feet from distances of 56 feet and more with this unusual gun.

CONVICT-MADE GOODS BILL SOON TO PASS

Measure Would Aid Cause of Labor by Eliminating Cheap Production

By SIDNEY ESPEY.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—For many years the labor organizations of the United States have striven to obtain legislation from congress which would curtail or prohibit interstate commerce in convict-made goods, contending that it was unfair to the working man to put his labor in competition with the cheap convict labor of the penitentiaries.

Finally congress seems to be on the verge of enacting a law, which, while it will not prohibit the shipment of convict-made goods from one state to another in interstate commerce, appears likely to curtail that traffic to a large extent.

The bill, which was known in the house as the Booher bill, and in the senate as the Hughes bill, has passed the house and recently was favorably reported to the senate from the committee on interstate commerce. As reported to the senate the measure is not so broad as that which passed the house. The senate bill, as amended by the committee, provides that all goods and merchandise manufactured, produced or mined wholly or in part "by convict labor, or in any prison or reformatory by persons imprisoned upon conviction of a crime, transported into any state or territory of the United States, shall upon arrival be subjected to the operation of the laws of the state or territory in which they are received in the same manner as though these goods had been manufactured or produced in that state or territory." There is a provision that this act shall not apply to eleemosynary institutions conducted for minors.

Prevents Market Congestion.

In its effect, the bill will prevent the dumping of large quantities of convict-made goods, manufactured in one state, into the markets of other states where laws have been enacted prohibiting the sale of convict-made goods in competition with those made by free labor. Pennsylvania is a case in point. Laws have been enacted in Pennsylvania prohibiting the sale of convict-made goods within the state borders. So the goods made in the state penitentiaries there are shipped into the other states and sold, millions of dollars worth of goods each year, it is said.

Few persons realize the enormous quantities and value of convict-made goods in this country. According to the report of the commissioner of labor for 1905, the value of goods produced by convict labor in 296 of the larger penal institutions of the country was $34,000,000, representing the labor of 50,000 convicts. The leading product was boots and shoes. The other leading industries of the convicts were farming, manufacture of clothing, furniture, brooms and brushes, binding twine and coal mining.

Presents Grave Problem.

This product is small apparently when compared with the vast mass of products of free labor in this country, but the testimony given by the manufacturer and the free laborer is that when these convict-made goods are thrown upon the market, demoralization and depression is the invariable result, in some instances prices falling below the cost of production.

On the other hand, all agree that prisoners should not be kept idle. It is demoralizing to them, while work keeps them in better physical and moral health, and prepares them for taking up some trade when they are discharged from prison.

The Hughes bill as reported to the senate, makes no atempt to determine in favor of any convict-labor system, but merely to subject convict-made goods passing from one state to another to the control of the laws of the state in which they are delivered.

HOW TO START A LIBRARY

Laura Spencer Portor in the October Woman's Home Companion.

"For those who are beginning a library and have little money to spend I would suggest that there be bought, say, one book each of 10 great authors. It does not matter who the authors are so long as they stand high and their books are well known and standard ones. Let us take as an example the following 10, chosen at random from a catalog of standard writers: Emerson, Eliot, Bronte, Ruskin, Carlyle, Dickens, Thackeray, Lowel, Shakespeare, Keats, and as a selection of 10 of the books of these 10 writers let us take in the same order Emerson's 'Essays,' Eliot's 'Mill on the Floss,' Bonte's 'Jane Eyre,' Ruskin's 'Sesame and Lilies,' Carlyle's 'Heroes and Hero Worship,' Dickens' 'David Copperfield,' Thackeray's 'Pendennis,' Lowell's 'Essays' 'Among My Books,' a complet volume of Shakespeare or any one of the Shakespeare plays, preferably 'Lear' or 'Romeo and Juliet,' and Keats' 'Poems.'

"Here you have 10 books by 10 master minds, books widely varied in subject, style, treatment. Let these 10 suffice for a time. Read them."

The Colorado Fuel & Iron Co. is the largest single industrial enterprise in Colorado.

During the past eleven years, since Mr. John D. Rockefeller acquired an interest in the property, the company has paid to its employes in wages $92,817,000.

In that eleven years the company has paid as dividends $960,000, an average of about two-tenths of one per cent per annum on its $36,000,000 capital stock. For every dollar paid to stockholders, nearly $100 was paid to workmen.

The bulk of the money the company earned went into high wages to Colorado workmen, into the prompt payment of debts to Colorado creditors, into improving the condition of the Colorado mines and plants (thus advancing the general welfare of the state), not into material profits for the owners of the property.

It is the purpose of this company to promote and to share the prosperity of Colorado. This can be attained insofar as we deserve and enjoy the confidence of the people.

DES MOINES, Ia., Sept. 23.—"My main plea to you here in Iowa is that you vote as you really think and do not permit yourselves to let loyalty to names make you disloyal to principles," Col. Theodore Roosevelt said to his hearers at a meeting of Progressives here tonight. "As at present controlled and managed, the Democratic and Republican parties are as poor instruments with which to work out the welfare of the country as were the Democratic and Whig parties 60 years ago when the Republican party was first founded.

"Abraham Lincoln was then a man of middle age, and all his life long had been a Whig. He found that he could be true to the principles which had made him a Henry Clay Whig only by refusing longer to be fettered by allegiance to a party name. He left the party with which for a quarter of a century he had been identified and which had elected him to office and joined the new party—the progressive party of that day.

[illegible] KILLED IN WRECK ON MIDLAND

F. L. Packard Loses Life When Engines Are Ditched in Granite Canon

F. L. Packard of Florissant, a fireman, was instantly killed when both engines on Colorado Midland passenger train No. 5 were ditched in Granite canon, 40 miles west of Colorado Springs, yesterday afternoon at 2:20 o'clock. S. A. Wilson of Colorado City, the other fireman, sustained a broken arm and was badly scalded by steam. He was rushed to St. Francis hospital here, where his condition is said to be critical.

The accident is said to have been caused by a broken rail, though no official reports have been made.

Engineers W. N. Hemenway and C. R. Green, both of Colorado City, narrowly escaped serious injury and possible death, jumping from their cabs as the locomotives rolled over. No cars left the track and no passengers were injured.

The train was traveling at the rate of about 20 miles an hour, and there was no warning of danger until the engines left the track. Neither fireman had an opportunity to jump, the locomotives falling on the side on which they were seated and pinning them down beneath. Being on the opposite side the engineers got away safely.

The train was a coast train, leaving this city at 12:20 p. m. The passengers were transferred to another westbound train at Littledale, near the scene of the accident.

Packard's body was sent to Florissant.

Traffic on the road was tied up until about midnight.

Colorado Platform "Contract With the People;" Urges Law Enforcement

CONDEMN STRIKE VIOLENCE

All Three Parties Declare Attitude on Industrial Controversy

DENVER, Sept. 23.—The attitude of the Democratic, Republican and Progressive parties of Colorado upon issues growing out of the Colorado coal strike, the liquor question and numerous other questions was set forth in the party platforms made public here today after two days' session by the candidates of each party. All discussed the question of law enforcement in labor troubles at length.

The Democrats favored the adoption of the three-year truce as proposed by President Wilson; the Republicans condemned all law violators and pledged a strict enforcement of Colorado [illegible] and the Progressives urged the enactment of a constitutional amendment to make coal mining a public utility.

The Republican and Democratic platforms favored local option. The Progressives pledged themselves to a strict and impartial enforcement of the prohibition amendment if carried. In this connection the Progressives stated that the wishes of the supporters of the amendment that it be not made a partisan matter, is respected.

All Favor Equal Suffrage Law.

All three parties urge the enactment of a federal equal suffrage amendment.

Upon issues growing out of the Colorado coal strike, the Democratic platform commends the [illegible] of President Wilson for a three-year truce between the operators and the United Mine Workers of America; it also supports the rights of habeas corpus, opposes the holding of prisoners incommunicado; opposes the impartial use of state troops in time of strike and indorses the sale of collective labor. Upon the matter of settling industrial controversies, the platform says:

"Both sides of an industrial conflict should stand ready for an investigation of grievances or for any fair plan of arbitration."

On the liquor question, the platform commends local option and opposes the making of prohibition a party issue, holding that the question should be left to the "judgment and conscience of the individual voter."

"G. O. P. on State Issues.

Referring to law enforcement, the Republican platform says:

"In Colorado the supreme, great and paramount issue of the hour is the just, efficient and impartial enforcement of the laws of the state and we will not be diverted from this issue by those who have openly violated the laws or by their sympathizers, attorneys or their bondsmen."

Upon the liquor question, the Republican platform says:

"With reference to the enforcement of the laws concerning the liquor traffic, we take the same position that we take concerning the enforcement of other laws and pledge our best efforts to the just and impartial enforcement of all laws now existing or that may hereafter be enacted or adopted."

The Republican platform concludes with an appeal for peace in the European war.

"A Contract With the People."

The Progressives were in session until nearly midnight before their platform was completed. It was termed "a contract with the people" and indorses the candidacy of Theodore Roosevelt for the Progressive nomination in 1916.

Help the Red Cross Society

Members of the Committee of One Hundred of the Pikes Peak chapter of the American Red Cross society have started their intensive campaign for funds to aid in alleviating suffering on the battlefields of Europe.

To date nearly $2,600 has been raised, and those who are soliciting contributions are meeting with marked success.

It is likely that someone who is cheerfully devoting his or her time to the work will call on you today. You are under no obligation to contribute a penny—although morally it is your duty to aid the work of the Red Cross society in whatever way you can.

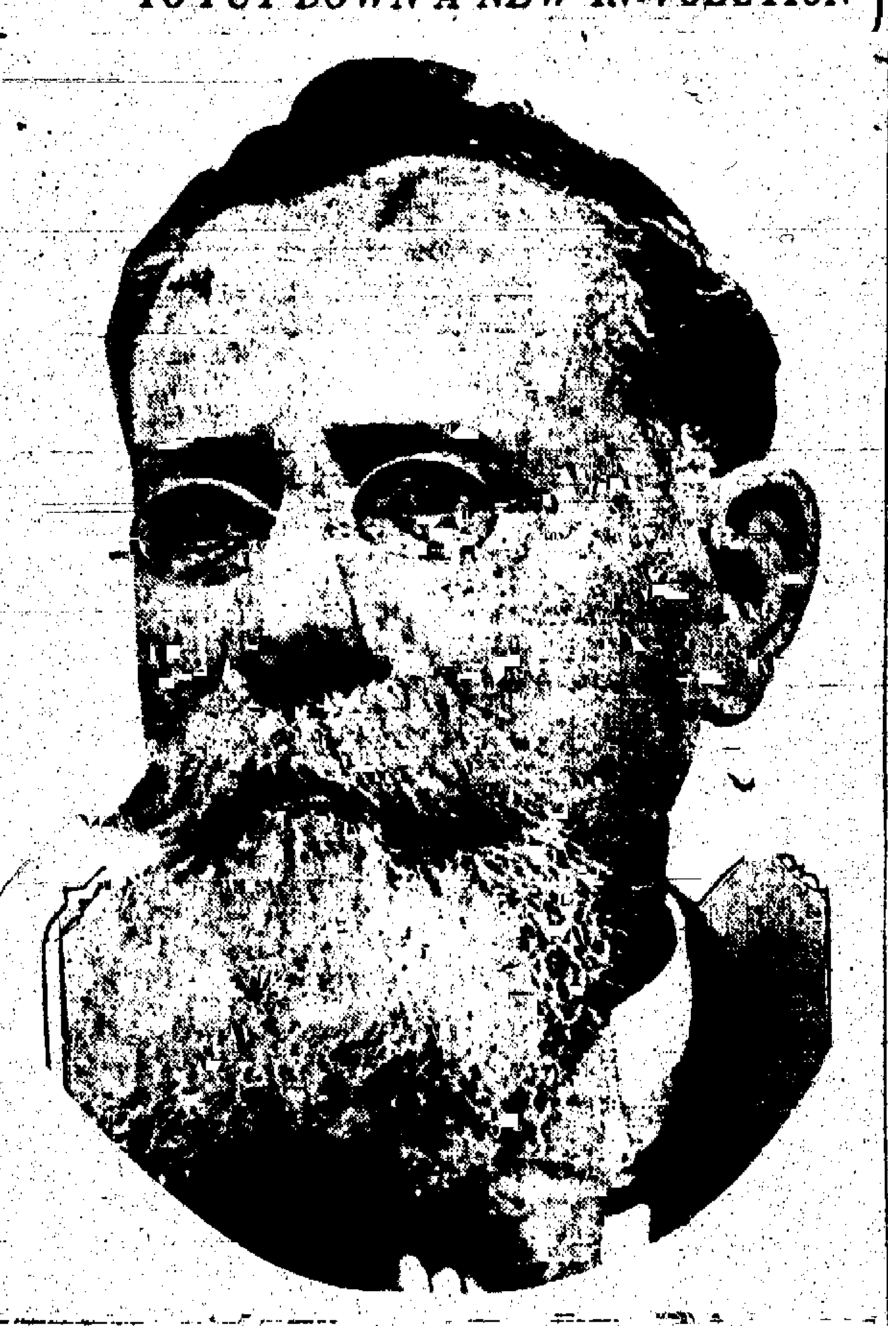
GENERAL CARRANZA, CALLED UPON TO PUT DOWN A NEW REVOLUTION



GEN. VILLA DECLARES WAR ON CARRANZA; MEXICO NOW FACES ANOTHER REVOLUTION

Northern Leader Repudiates the Supreme Chief and Soon Will Begin Hostilities; Causes Big Sensation in U. S.

EL PASO, Tex., Sept. 23. Gen. Francisco Villa, dominant leader in northern Mexico, tonight denounced the central government headed by Venustiano Carranza and announced his independence in a statement sent to the Associated Press.

This placed the state of Chihuahua in open revolt against the party in power at Mexico City, as well as Sonora, the next border state to the west, where Governor Maytorena previously has proclaimed his independence from the Constitutionalist party as represented by Carranza.

All available troops under Villa's command were rushed tonight to meet what was reported as a strong force of Carranza's troops moving north from Zacatecas. Even the two brigades which were sent on an overland march into Sonora to assist the Maytorena revolt were recalled hurriedly. They passed through Juarez tonight on their way back to Chihuahua City, Villa's capital.

General Villa's statement, in which he asserted that besides Chihuahua and Sonora, Zacatecas and a part of Coahuila, Carranza's native state, had joined the uprising, was received here as follows:

Declares War on Carranza.

"In view of the attitude of Venustiano Carranza, which has been the cause of great injuries to our country, and since he could never govern a republic nor make happy a country which aspires to a real democracy, a country which wants to have a government emanating from the people subject to an interpretation of the national feelings, we have been obliged to renounce him as commander-in-chief of the Constitutionalist army in charge of the executive power; and we have declared hostilities, being disposed to fight until he is forced to abandon his power and place the same in the hands of the real representatives of the people, who are disposed to remedy all evils of the republic and to direct it through the proper road of progress and well-being.

"We are not in favor of personalism, but we are defenders of principles and consequently we will not fight against any other of the chiefs who have contributed to the downfall of the usurper Huerta, our difficulties being against the person of Venustiano Carranza. The states of Sonora and Zacatecas and a part of Coahuila have seconded up to the present our attitude, and shortly we will be joined by adherents from other localities. General Obregon will leave tonight for El Paso, Tex.

(Signed) "FRANCISCO VILLA."

Will Not Attend Convention.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—General Villa has telegraphed General Carranza disavowing the latter as first chief of the Constitutionalist army in charge of the executive power in Mexico. This was announced in a telegram from General Carranza tonight to the Constitutionalist agency here.

General Villa, at the same time, announced that neither he nor his delegates would participate in the national convention called for October 1 at Mexico City to designate a provisional president.

PRES. WILSON STANDING BY STRIKE PLAN

Refuses to Change Attitude on Strike; Can't Act as Umpire, He Says

TROOPS MAY BE REMOVED

Other Mine Owners Give Views on Proposal Submitted by Federal Board

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—President Wilson today refused to change his attitude toward the Colorado coal strike condition and indicated that the mine operators must accept the basis of settlement already agreed to by the miners or stand responsible before the country for the result.

J. F. Welborn, president of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company, known as the "Rockefeller property," discussed the situation with the president and told him that some of the principal points of the basis of agreement did not meet with the approval of his concern. He proposed another plan of settlement, but Mr. Wilson refused to take it up.

It was said at the White house tonight that the president will stand behind the original plan of settlement, which was drawn up by a mine operator and a miner named by Secretary of Labor Wilson. Mr. Welborn promised to lay the president's view before the other operators and then to send a final answer.

President Wilson has expressed his disinclination to allow federal troops to remain in the Colorado mine district much longer.

Can't Act as Umpire.

In answer to the objections of Mr. Welborn, the president declared he could not act as the umpire between the operators and the miners and that he felt it the duty of the operators to accept the plan already adopted by the miners.

The president had expected to receive a committee representing the independent coal operators involved in the strike. Mr. Welborn told him that the other operators were unable to be present but would write. The president asked that Mr. Welborn tell the other operators that he could not accept a refusal of the plan.

Mr. Welborn presented an alternative plan for the solution of the strike trouble but the president refused to consider it, saying that he did not believe a compromise possible. The president declared that the public interests demanded the end of the strike and that it was the patriotic duty of the mine operators to accept the proposal.

Mr. Welborn declared after his interview with the president that the ques-

General Joffre Trying to Turn Western End of Battle Line; Soissons Bombarded for Nine Days

PARIS, Sept. 23.—General Joffre, commander-in-chief of the French army, is devoting much attention to the western wing of the battle line, where the fighting has been incessant night and day. The allies since the beginning of the battle of the Aisne have pushed back the Germans a distance of nearly 11 miles, forcing them to seek a further defensive position on the plateaus and in the rough country, which offer excellent opportunities for intrenchment.

The headquarters staff has been enabled to make a long movement forward to the north. The town of Soissons has been subjected to a furious German bombardment for nine days. The cannonade starts each day at dawn and continues until 8 o'clock in the evening. It then ceases and begins again at daybreak. The cathedral and other buildings have been greatly damaged.

Noyon Also Suffers.

The German artillery is posted to the northeast of the town, while the French guns occupy an emplacement to the southeast. There appears no necessity for the shells to fall on the town itself, as the French troops are stationed a considerable distance from it.

Noyon is also suffering from the German gun fire, but the fine cathedral up to the present has escaped.

Today's advance of the allied troops entailed very severe fighting, in which the artillery played a large part. The combat has lasted for 24 hours, but eventually the Germans yielded ground, after losing heavily. The allies suffered severely. Many ambulance trains have left the front for provincial cities, carrying German and French wounded. Large numbers of seriously wounded British officers and men have been transported to the American and other hospitals in Paris.

Gen. Dupuis Killed.

Among the killed today was General Dupuis, commander of the Sixty-seventh infantry brigade.

Eight American and British correspondents, arrested at Rheims on Monday for visiting that city without leave, have been released through the intervention of the American ambassador, Myron T. Herrick. The military governor of Paris announced today, however, that anyone using a temporary pass for leaving Paris to penetrate the fighting zone would be subject, without exception, to severe penalty. This is a precaution against spies, who appear to be numerous and adroit.

A resident of Maubeuge who has just escaped from that town, says that that city during the siege was full of secret German agents. The French discovered a subterranean telephone which was being used by a German emissary to inform the German officers of the French dispositions. Every sortie of the garrison failed because the Germans were ready, apparently having been forewarned.

BRITISH AVIATORS MAKE RAID ON ZEPPELIN BASE TO TERRIFY GERMANS

Invasion Is Designed to Prevent Attack on London; Bombs Dropped on Hangars

Anglo-French Armies Force Kaiser's Line to Fall Back Short Distance, as Desperate Assaults Are Directed Against Enemy's Right Wing; Russian Steam Roller Unchecked by Austrian Opposition

LONDON, Sept. 24.—(Thursday)—Again the status of the warfare on the long line in France remains unchanged, according to the official report of the French war office.

The battle has developed into a war of assault, with the allies in the role of attackers, against the strongly intrenched positions of the Germans. The French report says that in these circumstances progress of necessity must be slow.

The event of the day has been the flight of British naval aeroplanes from Antwerp to Dusseldorf, approximately a distance of 500 miles, in the course of which they dropped bombs on the Zeppelin sheds of the German aerial fleet which would cooperate with the German navy in case of a raid on England.

The official bureau intimates that the flight was undertaken as a warning to the Germans that if any more bombs are dropped on any unfortified towns in Belgium or France, the allies can retaliate. It is quite likely that the warning is also intended to include London, which has been looking for a visit from the Zeppelins for some days.

The flight of the British aeroplanes was one, so far as distance is concerned, that they were quite used to, as for some time the British flying men have been put to the test. They have made flights from Montrose, Scotland, to Salisbury, which is about the same distance as the round trip between Antwerp and the Rhine fortress.

RUSSIANS CONTINUE VICTORIOUS IN GALICIA

In the eastern war zone, the Russians report that they are still pursuing the retreating Austrians in Galicia, while on the German front the German and Russian armies are in close contact. No engagement has occurred as yet, however.

A press dispatch says that the Servians have retaken Liubovia from the Austrians and that the losses were heavy.

A news agency dispatch is authority for the statement that the Germans have intrenched and mined the approaches to Brussels and also are fortifying the region around Ath, northwest of Mons, to prevent the Belgians falling on the Germans should a retreat from France be forced.

CHINA TELLS GERMANS SHE CAN'T RESIST JAPANESE

In reply to Germany's protest against China's violation of neutrality by permitting Japanese troops to land on her soil, China said she was unable to defend her neutrality.

A German official report says the Russians lost in the battles near Tannenberg 150,000 men killed and 90,000 captured.

Another German report says that a single German submarine sank the three British cruisers in the North sea Tuesday. While the location of this daring torpedo attack has not been definitely established, it is assumed that it took place somewhere off the mouth of the Kiel canal. The latest estimate of the casualties in the disaster gives about 1,400 of the 2,200 officers and men on board the three warships as lost.

CHOLERA HAS BROKEN OUT AMONG AUSTRIANS

An official statement issued in Berlin says that the German art commission for Belgium reports that all art works and monumental buildings in Louvain and Liege were saved during the recent German bombardment.

A Vienna dispatch says the Hungarian minister of the interior reports that there have been nine cases of Asiatic cholera among the wounded in Hungary.

According to a dispatch received from Paris a Russian cruiser has sunk a German cruiser and two German torpedo boats in the Baltic sea.

PRZEMYSL GOAL OF CZAR'S MIGHTY ARMY

In Galicia, the Russians are pushing steadily on to their goal, which for the moment is Przemysl. They apparently have that place pretty well surrounded by now, for following the capture of Jaroslau they announce today the occupation of Wislok, a town on the Hungarian border southwest

JOHN COUGHLIN'S HOME DESTROYED; LOSS $9,000

An eight-room frame house occupied by Mrs. Nellie G. Hall at [illegible] Cheyenne boulevard, was completely destroyed by fire late last night. The loss of building and furnishings is estimated at $9,000, and is partially covered by insurance. The property was owned by John Coughlin of Chicago.

The origin of the fire is not known. Mrs. Hall and her daughter, Marie, were awakened by the reflection cast by the flames on the wall of their bedroom. The entire rear end of the house then was enveloped in flames. They made an effort to save some belongings, but were unable to carry out anything of value. Because of lack of water, the fire department could do nothing.

NATIONAL LEAD COMPANY

All Work Stops at First Sign of Invaders; Ruin and Desolation Mute Evidence of the French and Belgian Retreat

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

ROTTERDAM, Sept. 11.—By imagining the sweep of a floodtide up a broad, tidal river one can picture the advance of the German army through Belgium—now creeping, now racing—defying resistance with each forward lunge. Temporarily deflected at such points as Liege and Namur, the body of it moved irresistibly forward, engulfing what it could not immediately destroy.

The result is a rumpled, depleted country, strewn with the flotsam of this tide-scattered French epaulets and torn uniforms ground into the soil, shallow trenches filled with French guns broken at the stock and French knapsacks with their contents spilled everywhere on the landscape.

Country Laid Waste.

At intervals there are newly made graves without a cross or stone to mark them, and every village, hospital, church, villa and chateau is crowded with the wounded. Fields which have escaped the scourge and in which harvests still stand in giant haycocks, pyramid-shaped like the monument which supports the lion at Waterloo, only emphasize the surrounding waste; the purple luster of cabbage beds and the vivid green of enormous beet fields look as much out of place as hotbeds in a morgue.

The impression is not to be given, however, that the greater part of Belgium, or even the sections over which the Germans have passed, has been left in ruins. It is the sudden flight of the inhabitants that has given the country its chief appearance of desolation. In hay fields mowing machines and carts are to be found in the exact position in which they were left by farmers in the midst of a day's work, with the prints of hoofs showing where the horses had been led away by German soldiers.

Like a Nightmare.

On the road from Solre-sur-Sambre, through Montignies, St. Christopher to Beaumont, along which the French were driven in headlong flight after two days' artillery engagement—August 24-25—the complete evacuation of the inhabitants left a sense of dreariness and utter depression which choked one like a nightmare.

Doors of houses still remained open, cattle bellowed from deserted barns and half-finished glasses of weak Belgian cognac marked places where groups had gathered and hastily dispersed. In this area not a human soul moved or breathed. It was like the unearthing of an ancient city like Pompeii stricken in the midst of its daily occupation without a sign of impending catastrophe.

In one house a neglected canary pecked at the bars of its cage and a Belgian shepherd dog solemnly guarded the door. Along the road on each side French trenches at intervals of only a few hundred yards marked the French retreat.

Evidences of Retreat.

In the midst of the debris, I picked up a short blue coat belonging to a sergeant of the Eighteenth French zouave. Under it was a half picked chicken which the officer was apparently preparing to cook. There was also a spilled knapsack close at hand with a razor and toilet articles on the ground, and pinned under an empty champagne bottle, the interrupted letter of a French soldier. This read: "We are being slowly forced back by the Germans who are coming like a torrent. Through some blunder of our commander we have been separated from lancers and cuirassiers. But we make a last stand and—".

JAMES GORDON BENNETT

Proprietor of the New York Herald, who was married a few days ago to the Baroness de Reuter in Paris. The bride was the widow of Baron George de Reuter, the son of the founder of the Reuter Telegram agency. The baron died in 1909.

On the boundary line between France and Belgium lay the body of a French dragoon, clad in the resplendent uniform, coat striped with gold braid and flaring red trousers. He had fallen into a half dug trench, toward the foot of a towering stone monument which marked the frontier of his country.

Women and Children Do Work.

In other regions, where the Germans had passed without resistance, the peasants still pursued their daily chores as in times of peace. But it was the women and children who did the farm work. Some of these women complained that their husbands had been taken by the Germans as hostages to prevent sniping from the houses and had never returned. Women who kept small estaminets along the Belgian countryside were in the peculiar circumstance of having lost the contents of their wine cellars and having acquired tidy sums of German coin, which they could not use.

As a consequence, those who followed the German advance through Belgium found provisions and wines at a great premium, and very greatly depreciated German currency, which the natives were doing their best to dispose of. But, with a few exceptions, they bore their misfortunes with a resignation that was half stolid and half philosophic.

One woman showed a wrecked wine cellar, where German soldiers had first dined and then slept, a kitchen and cupboard denuded of everything remotely concerned with food and a house in a state of chaos which outraged her Belgian thrift; her husband, she said, had been one of those forced to march with the Germans, and she was left alone in a house impossible to dwell in. But she greeted correspondents with cheerfulness and hospitality.

In fact, throughout the desolated Belgian country the invasion has left little bitterness or vituperation.

CONVICT-MADE GOODS BILL SOON TO PASS

Measure Would Aid Cause of Labor by Eliminating Cheap Production

By SIDNEY ESPEY.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—For many years the labor organizations of the United States have striven to obtain legislation from congress which would curtail or prohibit interstate commerce in convict-made goods, contending that it was unfair to the laboring man to put his labor in competition with the cheap convict labor of the penitentiaries.

Finally congress seems to be on the verge of enacting a law, which, while it will not prohibit the shipment of convict-made goods from one state to another in interstate commerce, appears likely to curtail that traffic to a large extent.

The bill, which was known in the house as the Booher bill, and in the senate as the Hughes bill, has passed the house, and recently was favorably reported to the senate from the committee on interstate commerce. As reported to the senate the measure is not so broad as that which passed the house. The senate bill as amended by the committee provides that all goods and merchandise manufactured, produced or mined wholly or in part "by convict labor, or in any prison or reformatory by persons imprisoned upon conviction of a crime, transported into any state or territory of the United States, shall upon arrival be subjected to the operation of the laws of the state or territory in which they are received in the same manner as though these goods had been manufactured or produced in that state or territory." There is a provision that this act shall not apply to eleemosynary institutions conducted for minors.

Prevents Market Congestion.

In its effect, the bill will prevent the dumping of large quantities of convict-made goods, manufactured in one state, into the markets of other states where laws have been enacted prohibiting the sale of convict-made goods in competition with those made by free labor. Pennsylvania is a case in point. Laws have been enacted in Pennsylvania prohibiting the sale of convict-made goods within the state borders. So the goods made in the state penitentiaries there are shipped into the other states and sold, millions of dollars worth of goods each year, it is said.

Few persons realize the enormous quantities and value of convict-made goods in this country. According to the report of the commissioner of labor for 1905, the value of goods produced by convict labor in 296 of the larger penal institutions of the country was $34,000,000, representing the labor of 50,000 convicts. The leading product was boots and shoes. The other leading industries of the convicts were farming, manufacture of clothing, furniture, brooms and brushes, binding twine and coal mining.

Presents Grave Problem.

This product is small apparently when compared with the vast mass of products of free labor in this country, but the testimony given by the manufacturers and the free laborer is that when these convict-made goods are thrown upon the market, demoralization and depression is the invariable result, in some instances prices falling below the cost of production.

On the other hand, all agree that prisoners should not be kept idle. It is demoralizing to them, while work keeps them in better physical and moral health and prepares them for taking up some trade when they are discharged from prison.

The Hughes bill as reported to the senate, makes no attempt to determine in favor of any convict-labor system, but merely to subject convict-made goods passing from one state to another to the control of the laws of the state in which they are delivered.

HOW TO START A LIBRARY

Laura Spencer Portor in the October Woman's Home Companion.

"For those who are beginning a library and have little money to spend I would suggest that there be bought, say, one book each of 10 great authors. It does not matter who the authors are so long as they stand high and their books are well known and standard ones. Let us take as an example the following 10, chosen at random from a catalog of standard writers: Emerson, Eliot, Bronte, Ruskin, Carlyle, Dickens, Thackeray, Lowell, Shakespeare, Keats, and as a selection of 10 of the books of these 10 writers let us take in the same order Emerson's 'Essays,' Eliot's 'Mill on the Floss,' Bronte's 'Jane Eyre,' Ruskin's 'Sesame and Lilies,' Carlyle's 'Heroes and Hero Worship,' Dickens' 'David Copperfield,' Thackeray's 'Pendennis,' Lowell's essays 'Among My Books,' a complet volume of Shakespeare or any one of the Shakspeare plays, preferably 'Lear' or 'Romeo and Juliet,' and Keats' 'Poems.'

"Here you have 10 books by 10 master minds, books widely varied in subject, style, treatment. Let those 10 suffice for a time. Read them."

THE OCTOBER AMERICAN MAGAZINE

In the October American magazine appears a thrilling letter from an American contributor now in Europe entitled "Pity the Women of Europe," in which the point is graphically made that in war time the men get some thrill out of the adventure and the new experience, but the women are left at home to suffer alone and to make the struggle to feed their children, with poverty and high prices staring them in the face.

In the same issue announcement is made of a new seris of articls by Ida M. Tarbell, "The Golden Rule in Business: How it Pays in Dollars and Cents, Personal Satisfaction and Human Happiness." Ray Stannard Baker writes entertainingly of a United States representative from California, who is the philosopher of congress. Walter Prichard Eaton, the theatrical critic, discusses a new epoch in the movies. "Jerry" Travers, four times amateur golf champion of the United States, tells how to get back on your game.

Fiction is contributed by Maravene Thompson, Marjorie Benton Cooke, Philip Curtis and others, and the interesting People department contains five short articles about men and women in various parts of the country who are doing unusual things.

Humorous contributions are contributed by five great comic writers: James Montgomery Flagg, Stephen Leacock, George Fitch, Kin Hubbard and Gelett Burgess.

GUN TACKS SIGNS ON BUILDING WALLS

From the October Popular Mechanics Magazine.

A gun which shoots signs into place has been invented, which, in appearance, is not unlike a shotgun. The sign which it discharges is rolled tightly about a heavy stick and a cord is attached to a tack which is temporarily fastened, point out, at one end of this. The other end of the string is fastened to the top of the sign. When the instrument is loaded with one of these and the trigger pulled, heavy springs furnish the propelling force which sends the roll endwise through the air like an arrow, at whatever object it is aimed. The tack imbeds itself, while the jar of the impact loosens the sign and makes it unroll, falling into place. Posters have been placed at heights of 30 feet from distances of 50 feet and more with this unusual gun.

THAT COLORADO MAY KNOW!

The Colorado Fuel & Iron Co. is the largest single industrial enterprise in Colorado.

During the past eleven years, since Mr. John D. Rockefeller acquired an interest in the property, the company has paid to its employes in wages $92,817,000.

In that eleven years the company has paid as dividends $960,000, an average of about two-tenths of one per cent per annum on its $36,000,000 capital stock. For every dollar paid to stockholders, nearly $100 was paid to workmen.

The bulk of the money the company earned went into high wages to Colorado workmen, into the prompt payment of debts to Colorado creditors, into improving the condition of the Colorado mines and plants (thus advancing the general welfare of the state), not into material profits for the owners of the property.

It is the purpose of this company to promote and to share the prosperity of Colorado. This can be attained insofar as we deserve and enjoy the confidence of the people.

'GATEWAY PROTESTS' TO BE HEARD TODAY

Colorado Railroads to Lay Case of U. P. Before Interstate Commission

A preliminary hearing of protests against the proposed closing of the Ogden gateway by the Union Pacific railroad, will be taken up in Washington this morning by the interstate commerce commission, according to advices received by Secretary A W Henderson of the Chamber of Commerce. The local organization last week filed a protest against the action of the railroad, on the ground that travel through the scenic portions of Colorado would be seriously affected if the gateway is closed Other business and commercial associations throughout the state also have filed protests

The interstate commerce commission will investigate the matter, and if there is sufficient testimony to warrant action, the tariffs will be suspended until the case can be brought up on the regular docket If it is dismissed, there will be no further action taken.

Attorneys representing both the Denver & Rio Grande and Colorado Midland roads, will be present at the hearing No delegates from the Chamber of Commerce will attend

It is claimed by the protesting railroads that passengers for the northwest from points in Colorado will be prevented from going to Salt Lake City by way of the D. & R. G or Midland railroads as the result of this action by the Union Pacific They will be compelled to go to Denver and purchase Union Pacific tickets, which will be recognized on the Oregon Short Line People in the northwest who are traveling east and wish to come via the Pikes Peak regionn also will be unable to pass through Colorado Springs They will be compelled to buy Union Pacific tickets from Salt Lake City eastward and cannot travel over the Midland and D. & R. FRENCH EXPLAIN PROGRESS OF WAR

Informs Public That Struggle Is Proceeding Slowly on Extensive Scale

PARIS, Sept. 23.—The French official communication, issued tonight, after announcing that there has been no change in the situation on the battle front since the issuance of the previous communication, makes some comment on the battle of the Aisne.

The text of the announcement is as follows.

"There has been no change in the situation since the last communication

"The battle which is in progress along the Aisne has extended over eight days but should cause no surprise if one recalls the Russo-Japanese war

The battle of the Marne was an action undertaken in the open field, which began with a general resumption of the offensive by the French army against the enemy who did not expect it and had not had time seriously to organize defensive positions The same cannot be said of the battle of the Aisne where the adversary, who was retreating stopped and took positions which, by the nature of the ground, are very substantial in themselves in many places, and which he has been able gradually to improve as to organization

Battle on Large Scale.

This battle of the Aisne, therefore, presents on a large part of its front the character of war by assault similar to the operations in Manchuria

It might be added that the exceptional power of the artillery facing each other—the heavy German artillery against the French 7 5 centimeter cannon gives a particular value to the temporary fortifications which the two adversaries have thrown up

The task is therefore to take whole rows of intrenchments each one protected by very close defenses particularly rows of barbed wire with mitrailleuses in concealed positions

In these circumstances progress, of necessity must be slow It often happens that the progress of the attacks only amounts to from 500 meters to one kilometer a day "

FRENCH GOVERNOR REFUSED AID FOR THE BRITISH ALLIES

Nearly Caused Capture of General French's Army in Battle of Mons

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—The failure of the military governor of Lille to give reinforcements to the British forces at a time when they were in danger of annihilation during the battle of Mons, and the resultant protest of Lord Kitchener, Great Britain's secretary for war made to President Poincare, brought about the recent resignation of the French cabinet, according to Dr Fred S Mason of New York, who arrived here today on the Olympic.

Dr. Mason, while in France, was allowed to visit the hospital at Camp Marlborough, Boulogne-sur-Mer, by Surgeon General Lindell Bell of the British expeditionary forces. He also visited various other hospitals prepared for the wounded at Boulogne, Trouville and Havre At Boulogne, General Bell introduced him to a well-informed official of rank. The following is a report of the facts as the official is said to have stated them to Dr. Mason:

British in Grave Peril.

"When a force of about 100,000 British under General French were opposed by over twice that number of Germans of General von Kluck's army at Mons, General French saw that he was in a desperate situation. After the first day of fighting, when it was seen that the overwhelming force of Germans threatened to surround the entire British expeditionary force, General French made an earnest appeal to General Joffre commander of the French troops, requesting support on the left wing where the British were entirely alone

"Joffre wired instructions to the governor of Lille to send his garrison of 40,000 men to support the British forces It appears, however, that the governor put the telegram in his pocket for 48 hours in order, he said to allow the women and children to evacuate Lille, and this nearly brought about a defeat of the allies and was certainly one of the main reasons why they were obliged to retreat toward Paris The British managed to cut their way out of the German trap by almost superhuman effort and at tremendous loss. They were in full retreat away from Mons when the reinforcements arrived

General French Protested.

"Although General French made casual mention of the alleged failure of the French forces to assist him in his official report designed for publication, he sent a complete report and a bitter complaint direct to Lord Kitchener, saying that the failure of the French to answer his plea put his whole army in jeopardy

Lord Kitchener was furious He made a secret trip to Paris and laid his complaint against the dilatory governor of Lille before President Poincare and the French minister of war, The latter who was a friend of the governor complained against, refused to punish him President Poincare however to make every concession to Lord Kitchener, forced the resignation of the whole cabinet This was on August 28, about a week after the battle of Mons A very serious crisis in the affairs of the allies was thus avoided, and Lord Kitchener triumphed in his demand The governor of Lille has been sent to an obscure post of duty."

BANKS ARE HOARDING MONEY, SAYS M'ADOO

WASHINGTON, Sept 23 —Secretary McAdoo tonight adopted stringent measures to urge national banks to extend legitimate credit and charge normal interest rates on loans He telegraphed to 10 national banks in the four reserve cities in the south that their requests for additional crop-moving funds from the federal government would not be granted at this time, and made it clear that his action was taken in connection with reports of excessive interest rates and restriction of credits.

In a statement made public with the telegram, Mr McAdoo declared that there was an extraordinary hoarding of money by banks throughout the country without occasion He said reports to the comptroller of the currency showed that money hoarding has been carried to an extreme degree, and announced that he expected to focus attention upon the guilty banks by issuing a daily list of those with excessive reserves.

tion was still open and that he would report the result of his talk to the other operators.

Refuse to Accept Truce.

DENVER, Sept 23 Willingness to obey the mining statutes of Colorado and to reemploy such striking coal miners as they think desirable, and for whom there is work at the mines, but a refusal to enter into a three-year truce with the United Mine Workers of America, to reemploy all strikers not convicted of crime or to submit to a final arbitrament of all grievances by a federal commission, were expressed in a letter sent to President Wilson tonight by operators claiming to produce 70 per cent of the coal mined in Colorado

The letter was a reply to the communication in which the president urged the operators to adopt the plan suggested by Hywel Davies and William R Fairley, federal mediators for ending the coal miners strike It was signed by the Victor-American Fuel company, the Rocky Mountain Fuel company—two of the so-called big three'—and by 41 smaller concerns The Colorado Fuel and Iron company gave its views to the president in a separate letter made public last night

Says Probe Showed Partiality.

The operators expressed doubt as to the impartiality of the federal mediators.

"It is to be regretted, the letter said, 'that the character of the investigation and the previous records of the representatives selected by Secretary of Labor Wilson justify the belief that they are partisans of the men who have made necessary the presence of federal troops in the strike district. One of the representatives, William Fairley, was a member of the national executive committee of the United Mine Workers of America for Alabama, and, according to their treasurer's report, was on their payroll during the year ending November 30 1912, and was actively engaged as an organizer and agitator in the Colorado strike in 1904

Referring to the proposed three-year truce, the operators said.

Can't Trust Miners.

"The governor of this state some months since, entered into an agreement or truce with the leaders of this organization and, in utter disregard of their obligations the striking miners, under the direction of these identical leaders, continued with renewed vigor to destroy our properties and kill our workmen It would be imprudent to again place any reliance upon the good faith of these men."

The letter stated further:

"We are and have been willing to employ as many of the strikers as possible, without discrimination because of the fact that they laid down their tools, and believe that we can give work to a very large majority of those remaining in the state But it is quite impossible for us to agree to employ all striking miners who have not been found guilty of violence "

This refusal was based in part upon the fact that the mines already are manned and in part upon the fact that many strikers are under indictment on charges of murder, but have not yet been tried

Object to Grievance Committees.

The operators objected, both to grievances committees and to the proposed federal grievance commission Of the latter proposal, the letter said

"The unlimited authority of this proposed commission of three persons to be appointed by the president of the United States practically puts the entire control of the most important department of our business in its hands Its power to control the conduct of our business far exceeds any of the demands of the United Mine Workers of America A commission with such powers has never before to our knowledge existed or been suggested The interstate commerce commission, with all its extensive powers for the regulation of railroads and railroad business has no such variety or scope of authority as this proposed commission while the decisions of the interstate commerce commission are subject to review by the courts under established rules of law "

foolish conservatives who said it went too far

Moreover there were plenty well-meaning men who wished the progressives instead of standing by their own men to support near-progressives in both the old parties They insisted as we now see with entire accuracy, that the old parties, because of their constitutions and traditions and because of the makeup of the men in control of them were entirely unfit to meet the new conditions and that to support a near-progressive in one of the old parties meant merely to throw back the whole movement

Cummins on Wrong Track.

"Senator Cummins and those who train with him are on the wrong track They cannot be true to the old-time principles of Lincoln and Lincoln's day as long as they continue their association with the utterly reactionary Republican machine as now controlled in the nation and in the largest and most populous states We must not let our loyalty to a name blind us to existing facts The Iowa Progressives, when in 1914 they oppose Mr Cummins stand exactly where the Republicans stood in 1858 when they opposed Stephen A Douglas

Mr Cummins and the Republicans who think as he does really stand in absolute alliance with those in control of the present Democratic party and with the national Democratic administration as regards both the tariff and the trust questions

Discusses Tariff Reforms.

Mr Roosevelt discussed the tariff question at some length criticising the policies of both the Democratic and Republican parties

Touching on the trust question, he referred to a plan of limiting the capitalization of industrial concerns that no unit should have more than 25 per cent of the business of any given type, which he said had been advocated by both Democratic and Republican leaders

"The slightest study of our industrial situation," he said, "will show you that the evils which can properly be charged to the trusts may also be properly charged to corporations which do not have 25 or even 10 per cent, or even sometimes not five per cent of the total business The most striking example is one that is before our eyes at this moment The corporation which has caused [illegible] industrial trouble in this country [illegible] the past year is the Colorado Fuel and Iron company It has long been singled out by writers on economic reforms as showing all the peculiarities which they most condemn in the work of corporations of the wrong kind

Causes State Much Trouble

This corporation has brought civil war social war on the state of Colorado and has paralyzed the state government which has had to appeal to the nation and invoke the protection of the United States army in order to restore the ordinary conditions of orderly civilization Yet this corporation has not 25 per cent —probably has not 10 per cent—of mass control of the commodities in which it deals "

Mr Roosevelt said the Progressive party advocated the creation of an efficient administrative commission which shall take continuing control of trusts and which will give honest men surety as to the law and encouragement while they obey the law

LOSS OF CATHEDRAL OF RHEIMS IS GREAT BLOW TO ART LOVERS

Vatican Will Protest to the Civilized World Against Vandalism

ROME, Sept 23.—The Vatican, according to the Rome newspapers, is awaiting authentic information concerning the bombardment of Rheims before considering a protest. It has been asserted that Pope Benedict telegraphed the German and Austrian emperors deploring the damage done to the cathedral at Rheims. The Vatican however declines to confirm or deny this assertion saying that it will publish through its own proper channels what steps have been taken when the opportune moment arrives

Great Historic Loss.

LONDON Sept 23 —If the reported destruction of the cathedral of Rheims is true it is the greatest loss from a historical and artistic sense of the present war Begun on the site of an earlier church erected by Robert De Courcy in 1212 and continued at intervals down to the Fifteenth century it has been described as "the most perfect example in grandeur and grace of Gothic style in existence "

The west front which was begun about 1241-42, is said to be the most beautiful structure produced during the middle ages with its deeply recessed triple portal and the wonderful rose window that surmounts it This window, more than 40 feet in diameter, was reported in cable dispatches as having been destroyed by a shell

Scenes of Coronations.

It was in the cathedral of Rheims that the successive kings of France from Philip II to Charles X were crowned, and it was there that the Maid of Orleans, after her victorious career, stood banner in hand, before the great altar and saw the coronation of Charles VII, which marked the fulfillment of her vision

After kneeling before the monarch whom she had placed on the throne she begged the gentle king to allow her to return to her flocks

Richness Not Surpassed.

The elaborate richness of the sculpture, its stained glass and statuary are not surpassed in any existing structure

In the north transept over the sacristy, was a clock said to have been the oldest moving piece of horology in existence Among the priceless cathedral treasures were some wonderful church plate of the early centuries, reliquaries containing a thorn of the holy crown the skull of St Remy, and countless tapestries, some dating from the Fifteenth century

In a chapel attached to the vestry was a rare collection of Roman and medieval sculpture including the famous sarcophagus of Jovinus, the Roman prefect of Rheims who was converted to Christianity in 366

Palace Home of Kings.

The archbishop's palace, also reported as destroyed is a double chapel dating from about 1230 There the monarchs of France were housed at their coronations and there Joan of Arc lodged when she came to Rheims to crown Charles VII

The palace adjoins the cathedral and about a quarter of a mile to the southwest is the Church of St Jacques also reported destroyed or seriously damaged in the bombardment Save for its antiquity dating from the Twelfth century St Jacques possesses little interest, all the valuable church antiquities of Rheims having been collected in the cathedral

City Hall Rare Structure.

The Hotel de Ville, or city hall also said to have been ruined or badly damaged by shell fire was commenced in 1627, but not completed until the present century It contained a fine library with hundreds of volumes of manuscripts some antiquities, and a good collection of paintings

Aside from these notable monuments a thorough shelling or conflagration might destroy many lesser buildings that have made the ancient city a place of enormous historic interest Some of its old houses date from the Twelfth and Thirteenth centuries and here and there still exist remains of the Roman occupation

CONFEREES FINISH THE CLAYTON BILL

Measure Changed in Many Respects From the Original Act

WASHINGTON, Sept 23. The Clayton antitrust bill at last is ready for final consideration of congress. The conferees agreed upon their final report today, completing a measure that is a combination of features of both senate and house bills.

Primarily the bill would, as urgently suggested by President Wilson, provide that any director, officer or agent of a corporation violating the antitrust laws or who might aid or counsel such violation, should be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine not exceeding $5,000, or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or both.

Important changes made in the measure as it left the senate relate to interlocking directorates and exclusive contracts. The conferees restored the house section prohibiting interlocking directorates of bank directors, with an amendment to provide:

Interlocking Directorates.

"That from and after two years following the passage of the act, no person shall at the same time be a director or other officer or employe of more than one bank, banking association or trust company which has deposits, capital, surplus and undivided profits aggregating more than $1,000,000, the provision to be applicable only to banks in cities having a population of more than 200,000."

The house bill fixed the capital limitation at $2,500,000 and contained no population limitation.

Interlocking also would be prohibited of directors in competitive corporations having a capital of more than $1,000,000, if elimination of the competition would constitute a violation of the trust laws. Railroad directors would be prohibited from serving as directors of corporations dealing with securities or supplies in excess of $5,000 a year, except through competitive bidding under regulation of the interstate commerce commission.

Exclusive Contracts Prohibited.

The provision to prohibit exclusive contracts follows the spirit of the [illegible] amendment to maintain independence of retail dealers. It would make it unlawful to lease or make a sale or contract for sale of goods, patented or unpatented, on the condition, agreement or understanding that the lessee or purchaser shall not use or deal in the goods of a competitor of the lessor or seller, where the effect of such a transaction may substantially lessen competition or tend to create monopoly. Specific penalty in this section of the senate bill was eliminated.

Price discrimination between purchasers would be prohibited by the bill, and holding companies would be prohibited when acquirement of corporations by another would create monopoly or "substantially lessen" competition.

Labor Unions Exempt.

Labor, agricultural and fraternal organizations are exempt from the provisions of the law, and labor is declared not to be a commodity.

A provision growing out of the New Haven railroad difficulties would make it a felony for any officer or director of a corporation to wilfully misapply its funds or to wilfully permit them to be misapplied. This is made punishable by a fine of not less than $500 or by imprisonment for not less than one year or more than 10 years, or both.

Provisions modifying and liberalizing the injunction laws were reported as agreed on in the senate, and trial by jury is provided in cases of indirect contempt.

Several senate amendments were eliminated. One of these would have given the courts authority to appoint receivers for convicted corporations, to sell the property to persons who would restore competition.

Senator Culberson submitted the conference report to the senate late today, giving notice that he would call it up at the earliest opportunity.

WAR BULLETINS

LONDON, Sept 23.—According to a message from Paris to the Central News, a Russian cruiser has sunk a German cruiser and torpedo boats in the Baltic.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—A dispatch to the Central News from Copenhagen says that the Berlin Vorwaerts, the Socialist organ, announced that the commander-in-chief has ordered that the paper suspend publication for three days. The action, the Vorwaerts says, was due to its free criticism of the alleged bad treatment of prisoners of war by Germany in comparison with the good treatment accorded German prisoners in France and England.

PARIS, Sept 23.—The Havas agency tonight received the following Russian official statement from Petrograd:

"Pursuing the retreating Austrian army, the Russian troops have reached the Wislok river (in Austrian Galicia), and in the region of Przemysl our operations are developing with success.

"On the German front, the Russian troops are in close contact with the Germans, but no engagement has occurred."

LONDON, Sept. 24 (Thursday).—According to a Reuter dispatch from Rome, the Giornale d'Italia publishes a report from Antivari that the Montenegrins on Wednesday opened an assault of Sarajevo and engaged the Austrians in a sanguinary battle, which continues.

VENICE, via Paris, Sept. 24 ([illegible] Thursday).—Reliable [illegible] official sources estimate the number of unemployed in Vienna at between 90,000 and 100,000. The problem of sheltering and feeding them is causing serious trouble to the local authorities.

PARIS, Sept 24 (Thursday).—A son of Field Marshal Count von Moltke has been killed in the fighting at Esternay.

LONDON, Sept 24 (Thursday).—General von Deimling, commanding the German army in Alsace, has been dismissed, according to a Geneva dispatch to the Daily Chronicle.

LONDON, Sept 24.—(Thursday)—Speaking of the necessity for the enrollment of new troops, the Post says:

"It is not clear that the public even yet has fully grasped the magnitude of the conflict and the exertions required for success."

LONDON, Sept. 24.—(Thursday)—An Antwerp dispatch to the Reuter Telegram company says that Belgian gendarmes have arrested 40 nuns in a German convent at Horsbeck because one of the nuns addressed the villagers in favor of Germany and denounced King Albert.

BERLIN, Sept. 24. (Thursday)—The death-dealing trip of the German submarine of the U-9 came shortly after the marriage of her commander, Lieutenant Weddingsen.

Lieutenant Weddingsen returned September 18 from a journey to the Shetland islands, and used the opportunity offered by repairs to his craft to get married to a Miss Prete of Hamburg. The following day he returned to his submarine.

ROME, Sept. 23.—A dispatch from Vienna to the Giornale d'Italia tells of serious sickness in the Austrian army. The municipal council at Vienna has voted 1,000,000 crowns (approximately $250,000) for the construction of barracks for the treatment of contagious diseases.

BORDEAUX, Sept 23.—A young German soldier lay dying of his wounds this morning in a Bordeaux hospital. He asked for spiritual consolation and a French Protestant chaplain came to his side. The chaplain, however, spoke no German. Hearing of the difficulty, a Catholic priest volunteered to interpret. The Protestant minister pronounced the words of consolation and peace in French and the priest translated them into German to the dying man, who breathed his last peacefully.

POPULAR COLORS THIS FALL

Edith M. Weidenfeld in the October Woman's Home Companion.

In color brown has taken the place that green had in popularity last season, and green has dropped pretty well into the background except in plain effects, where it is most smart when combined with blue. Of all the brown shades tete-de-negre, which is almost black, is the most fashionable, though such tones as tobacco and mahogany brown are modish.

Blue, which is always practical and good style, follows brown.

of Przemysl and an important station on the railway which runs from Sanok through one of the passes of the Carpathians to Zemplyn and thence to Budapest.

Wislok probably was taken by that part of the Russian army which advanced from Lemberg by the southern route to cut off the retreat of the Austrian army through the Carpathians to Hungary. It is also another link in the chain which the Russians are drawing around the fortresses of Przemysl and Cracow.

On the German frontier the Russians are in close touch with the German forces, according to their report, but no fighting has occurred.

The Servians record almost daily successes. This time it is the capture of Lia Boria on the river Drina.

1,400 WENT DOWN WITH THREE BRITISH CRUISERS

It has not been possible as yet to make up an accurate roll of the losses occasioned by the sinking of the British cruisers Aboukir, Hogue and Cressy by the German submarines, but it is believed the total death toll will aggregate 1,400 officers and men.

The landing of some of the survivors in Holland has raised the interesting question as to whether they must be interned until after the war. It has been taken for granted that this would be the case, but the point is now brought forward that they are really shipwrecked sailors and are entitled to the hospitality of a neutral country as such until they are ready to return home.

A similar case arose at Che-Fu during Japan's attack on Port Arthur. A number of Japanese whose ships were sunk at Port Arthur were brought to the Chinese port and the Russian consul asked that they be interned. They were finally allowed, however, to return to Japan.

LOSSES ON BATTLEFIELDS SAID TO BE STAGGERING

The losses through the sinking of the British cruisers, while heavy, are infinitesimal compared with those on the battlefield. It was reported today from Holland that 50,000 German wounded had passed through Liege from Alsace, and it is known that the losses on both sides are very heavy.

Another batch of German prisoners arrived in England today. They were taken to Camberley, where since Friday 1,500 have been brought in.

The Austrian losses are even heavier than those of the Germans and the allies. Up to September 14, according to Russian papers, the Russians have captured eleven Austrian flags, 636 guns, 44 machine guns and 64,000 prisoners, including 535 officers.

It is announced by the Newcastle Coal exchange that owing to the inability of the German coal owners to execute the contract for supplying the Portuguese railways, the contract has reverted to British collieries. This is the first reported instance since the outbreak of the war of the diversion of business from Westphalia to this country.

GEN. VILLA DECLARES WAR ON CARRANZA; MEXICO NOW FACES ANOTHER REVOLUTION

from General Carranza's order to suspend railroad communication between Aguas Calientes and Torreon until he could learn whether or not General Obregon, commander of the division of the northeast, was held under arrest by Villa.

Causes Sensation.

This sudden break between the two foremost factors in Mexico's politics caused a profound sensation here. Secretary Bryan would make no comment and White house officials likewise were silent.

It was generally understood, however, that President Wilson, who has set no date for the departure of American forces from Vera Cruz, probably would delay the evacuation until the controversy was adjusted.

Official reports from various points in Mexico throughout the day pictured the situation as ominous. From Mexico City came reports that General Carranza was considering the advisability of postponing the convention 10 days.

Ray of Hope Lingers.

From this fact a ray of hope was contained by some officials who thought the breach might be healed if a new method of representation at the convention was agreed upon.

That the railroad had been interrupted north of Aguas Calientes came in official reports together with the information that Villa's delegates had delayed their departure.

During the day Paul Fuller, who has had personal conferences with both Villa and Carranza for the Washington government, reported at length to President Wilson and Secretary Bryan. He gave them detailed information of the attitude of both. Mr. Fuller is understood to have explained to Carranza that the American government desired to see a provisional government set up which would be recognized by all factions, and only such a government would be accorded recognition.

Well-informed officials seemed to think the cause of the rupture between Carranza and Villa was the latter's disapproval of Carranza's system of representation for the national convention. Villa was determined that his followers should control the convention or he would not participate in it. By the agreement of Torreon, when the first Carranza-Villa break was adjusted, one delegate was to represent every 1,000 men in the army and governors of states were to be barred. Carranza recently invited the governors and the generals as well. Villa believed the convention would be controlled by Carranza, who would put in power as provisional president some one who would conduct the election so that Carranza would be elected. Villa is openly opposed to Carranza's candidacy, and was preparing to support another.

Just what the American government would do in the present emergency was not clear tonight. There was confidence among some officials that the friction would not result in a second revolution because of the strength of Villa's army. They thought a compromise might be arranged by further conferences, and it was not certain whether the United States would interpose its influence or await developments.

Mobilization Under Way.

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Sept 23.—General mobilization of troops in northern Mexico loyal to General Carranza is under way to Monterey, according to reports current in Matamoros opposite Brownsville, tonight. The Matamoros garrison departed suddenly for Monterey with the explanation from officers that all troops were being returned to their native states, and that state troops would replace them.

Americans arriving from Monterey today said they noted no unusual military movements, but there seemed to be considerable unrest in the city.

Orders Obregon Detained.

EAGLE PASS, Tex., Sept. 23.—General Villa has ordered General Obregon, now on his way to Mexico City, detained at Torreon, according to information reaching the border today from sources that heretofore have proved trustworthy. This, it is declared, was Villa's reply to General Carranza's latest demand for an explanation as to the breach between Villa and Obregon.

Obregon set out from the north for the federal capital yesterday to report to the first chief in person. It could not be learned here tonight whether he had reached Torreon.

Carranza Called Traitor.

NOGALES, Sonora, Sept. 23.—A proclamation of revolt against General Carranza, first chief of the Constitutionalist army, was published here today. It is signed by Jose de J. Sanches.

"General Villa has refused to recognise the traitor Carranza," the proclamation reads, "and has ordered the mobilization of his veteran troops to move on the capital."

After paying tribute to Villa, the proclamation adds that his efforts are supported by Governor Maytorena and Gov. Manuel Castilla Brito of Campeche.

1,400 DEATH TOLL IN SINKING THREE BRITISH CRUISERS

Brave Seamen Cheer Captain as He Goes Down With His Ship

LONDON, Sept 23.—A Harwich dispatch to the Central News says it is learned from reliable sources that the death roll of the British cruisers Aboukir, Hogue and Cressy will be about 1,400. Survivors explain that the disaster happened in so brief a period of time it was like a nightmare.

One of the crew of the Aboukir said he was in the water about four hours. In his opinion, all the men between decks must have gone down with the ship.

He thought that for the past three weeks the submarines of the enemy had been observing the cruisers, waiting for a fine day to risk a torpedo shot at them. They must have known that the cruisers were patrolling the same waters for weeks and, seeing their opportunity, grasped it.

Sink in Few Minutes.

The canteen steward of the Hogue was on the deck when he heard an explosion and saw the Aboukir with a decided list. In a few moments the sea was dotted with heads. The Hogue had just lowered boats when she received a blow which shook the ship, her stern seeming to go down. Then a periscope was seen traveling very quickly, and the bow gun fired at it.

The periscope disappeared, but whether the submarine descended of her own will or received her quietus, he did not know.

At that moment the Hogue received another shock and began to keel over. Within a quarter of an hour the waves were washing about their feet, and Captain Nicholson sang out, "Every man for himself." At once all dived overboard. From the water they saw the captain standing on the bridge and gave him a cheer.

WAR MAY STOP IMPORTS OF FLINT PEBBLES

Used in Pottery Manufacture Supply Obtainable in United States

In 1913 nearly $320,000 worth of flint pebbles were imported into the United States, mainly from Denmark and France. In these countries the flint occurs as irregular nodules in the chalk cliffs that border certain parts of the coast, and under certain parts of the coast and under the impact of the waves on the shore the hard flint becomes freed from its relatively soft chalk matrix and is gathered in great quantities from the beaches for shipment to all parts of the world. At their destination the more irregular nodules are calcined and ground to a fine powder for use in pottery manufacture, but those that have been well rounded by the waves are reserved for use in tube mills, their hardness and chemical inertness making them a desirable grinding agent.

The United States geological survey reports that the cutting off of the imports of flint pebbles should work no material hardship to the pottery industry, as flint is used in that industry only in subordinate amounts compared with the crystalline quartz largely quarried in Connecticut, New York, and Maryland, and as the supply of the quartz is far in excess of the present demands. A cutting off of the supply of rounded flint pebbles suitable for tube-mill use would, it is probable, entail some inconvenience, for ready-rounded flints are not known to occur in this country. Recourse might be had to artificial rounding of domestic flints, which are known to occur in abundance in the region near Austin, Tex., where they weather out of beds of Cretaceous chalk, or to the artificial rounding of white vitreous quartzites, which are known to occur at a few places in this country. Where a small amount of iron as an impurity would not be detrimental in the ground product use might be made of rounded quartz pebbles such as occur in the valleys of many rivers that drain regions of crystalline rock—for example the Potomac near Washington.

Judge Little Hearing Election Contest Case in the Denver Court

DENVER, Sept 23.—Judge Little of Colorado Springs, sitting in the district court here today, denied permission to open the ballot boxes of three precincts involved in the contest between George Allen Smith and Benjamin C. Hilliard for the Democratic nomination for congress from the First district. At the same time, the court ruled out the semiofficial return sheets from the three precincts. The court decided to rely on the tally sheets in the poll books for the figures on which to base his decision. This afternoon the judge began his examination of the tally sheets.

MUNICIPAL ELEVATOR BUILT FOR TWO-STORY TOWN

From the October Popular Mechanics Magazine

Oregon City, Ore., is built on two levels, an abrupt cliff separating the business and residence sections and for years making it necessary for the citizens to climb long flights of stairs in order to go from one district to the other. To overcome this, a municipal hydraulic elevator was erected recently to connect the two stories of the town and make communication between them easier. The tower is 150 feet high, while the car which was built to be operated in it is capable of lifting 20 persons at one time. Litigation by property owners has so far prevented the building of the bridge from the tower to the bluff.

Why Modern Women's Hair is Getting Thin—By Mme. Beaupre

Wigs, switches, curling tongs, artificial waving, singeing, etc., have combined to ruin the hair of many women, so there is decidedly an increase in baldness. But proper care will develop heavy, beautiful hair upon any head. In washing the hair do not use a makeshift which may remove more than the excess oil, leaving the hair dangerously dry, but use something which is made for shampooing only. A perfectly safe economical, invigorating shampoo, that makes the hair so fluffy it seems much heavier than it is, can be had by dissolving a teaspoonful canthrox, which every good druggist sells, in a cup hot water. This mixture cleanses gently yet thoroughly, removing all dandruff, excess oil and dirt, giving to the scalp and hair the vigor that insures scalp-health and hair-beauty. Canthrox shampoos make the head feel good, make the hair look good, are very beneficial where hair is faded, dull or brittle, and the regular use of canthrox will greatly enrich the color of the hair and give a beautiful gloss and a "[illegible]" Adv.

Musical Club Issues Attractive Booklet

The advertising committee of the Colorado Springs Musical club has issued an artistic little booklet advertising the 1914-15 "great artist" series of the organization. The booklet is more than an advertisement, however, being an exceptionally costly one and one that probably will be kept by many as a souvenir.

The booklet is printed on a high grade of cameo plate paper of a light tan shade and bound in raw edge linen of a darker shade. Above the photograph of each artist appears a characteristic quotation. The musical idea is carried out throughout the booklet.

BAD COLD? TAKE CASCARETS FOR BOWELS TONIGHT

No headache, constipation, bad cold or sour stomach by morning

Get a 10-cent box.

Sick headache, biliousness, coated tongue, head and nose clogged up with a cold always trace this to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Adv.

Frost's Body to Lie in State Tomorrow in Council Chamber

The city council yesterday voted to tender the use of the council chamber of the city hall to the family of City Commissioner E. W. Frost, who died at Excelsior Springs, Mo., Monday night. It is probable that the body will lie in state in the council chamber. Funeral arrangements will not be made until the arrival of members of the family today.

At the council meeting yesterday no action was taken on matters not made necessary by the death of Mr. Frost. Commissioner A. J. Lawton was designated to take charge of the department of public health and sanitation, in addition to his own department, until the council selects a successor to Mr. Frost. Mr. Lawton has been in charge of the health department during Mr. Frost's absence.

The council arranged for floral tributes, and directed Mayor McKesson to draw up resolutions on the death of Mr. Frost, which will be adopted at the next council meeting. It is probable that no meeting of the council will be held tomorrow.

Prefers Prison to Political Office

Because some of his friends wrote his name on the Republican ticket, thereby nominating him for justice of the peace, W. C. Dockum, living near Lytle, has written to County Clerk Shelden asking that his name be left off the ballot at the November election. Dockum's communication is as follows:

Lytle, Colo., September 19, 1914.
To the County Board of Canvassers.

Gentlemen—If I have ever done anything that deserves severe punishment, send me to the pen at Canon City forthwith, but do not put my name on the official ballot for justice of the peace of Lytle precinct.

Respectfully submitted,
W. C. DOCKUM.

Dockum will be spared the torture of being a candidate. County Clerk Shelden yesterday forwarded him an official withdrawal blank, with instructions for its use.

A New, Harmless Way to Banish Hairy Growths

(Beauty Topics)

By following this suggestion any woman can, in the privacy of her own home, remove every trace of hair or fuzz from her face. With powdered delatone and water mix enough paste to cover the not wanted hairs, apply, and in 2 or 3 minutes rub off and wash the skin. This method is unfailing, harmless and quick in results, but care should be employed to get genuine delatone. Adv.

Intermountain Fair Association Proposed by Salt Lake Society

An intermountain fair association was advocated yesterday in a letter received by Secretary Henderson of the Chamber of Commerce from Briant S. Young, secretary of the Wizard of the Wasatch organization in Salt Lake City. The Wizard of the Wasatch is a festival similar to the Shan Kive. Mr. Young wrote that he had experienced difficulties in procuring companies and entertainment for his fair and suggested that an intermountain society would eliminate this to a certain extent. The matter will be investigated by the Chamber of Commerce.

Cured of Indigestion.

Mrs. Sadie P. Clawson, Indiana, Pa., was bothered with indigestion. "My stomach pained me night and day," she writes. "I would feel bloated and have headache and belching after eating. They helped me as nothing else has done." For sale by all dealers. Adv.

Springs Folks View Fine County Crops

Some of the best agricultural districts in El Paso county were included in a 150-mile automobile trip made by several Colorado Springs business men Tuesday. The flourishing condition of crops and the progress made by farmers in stock raising proved a great surprise. The party consisted of Irving Howbert, A. G. Sharp, Dr. D. H. Rice and Thomas F. Burns.

The route included the eastern, northern and central portions of the county. The party followed the Pikes Peak highway for about 30 miles to Wayne, traveled south for several miles and east to Michaels ranch, finally reaching Calhan by way of Yoder and Peyton.

The farm lands a few miles east of this city do not make a good showing, according to Mr. Howbert, because they are held in large tracts and no attempt has been made to improve them. In other districts the land has been broken up into small holdings and the tracts are producing good returns. Thousands of acres of wheat, oats, corn and other grain were passed by the party, which looked as fine as any raised in the Kansas corn belt. "The wheat will run from 40 to 50 bushels an acre," said Mr. Howbert, "and will yield as large returns as similar crops in the best districts in the middle west."

The Twenty Year Test.

"Some twenty years ago I used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes Geo. W. Brock, publisher of the Enterprise, Aberdeen, Md. "I discovered that it was a quick and safe cure for diarrhoea. Since then no one can sell me anything said to be 'just as good.' During all these years I have used it and recommended it many times, and it has never disappointed anyone." For sale by all dealers. Adv.

Purcell, Mayor McKesson, Dr. A. C. Magruder, Dr. G. B. Webb and Charles E. Thomas.

ASSOCIATED CHARITIES TO RAISE $700 AT ONCE

A special committee was appointed at a joint meeting of the executive and financial committees of the Associated Charities yesterday to arrange and name a time for the annual meeting of the board of directors. The matter of raising $700 for the immediate use of the organization was brought up, but no definite action taken. The campaign will be discussed and plans for raising the money will be made at the next meeting of the committees.

PUEBLO TO SEND BIG DELEGATION TO FAIR

Pueblo will have a large automobile representation at the Central Colorado fair, which will open here next Tuesday, according to J. H. Jenkins, secretary of the Pueblo Commerce club. He has written to Secretary Henderson of the Chamber of Commerce to make arrangements for the party and expects to have 25 cars in line. Several other towns are planning to send delegations to attend the exposition, and there will be many visiting automobiles here during the three days of the fair.

BLACKMORE'S WILL UNIQUE

E. V. Hall in Case and Comment for August.

I do not know whether the will of John Blackmore (to take one case from common life) has ever been in print before. I came across it quite by chance, but it inevitably struck the searcher's eye. It is nothing more than a curiosity, but it is, so far as I know, unique.

John Blackmore, it was deposed, was a clerk in the Bank of England, and the will was found on diligent search in a pocketbook in his desk at his London lodgings, where he had lived until a few days before his death (April 28, 1811), he was removed to country air. I transcribe the beginning of the will:

Are You Suffering From Auto-Intoxication?

The dictionary says that Auto-Intoxication is "poisoning, or the state of being poisoned, from toxic substances produced within the body." This is a condition due to the stomach, bowels, kidneys, liver, or pores of the body failing to throw off the poisons. More than 50% of adults are suffering from this trouble. This is probably why you are suffering from nervousness, headaches, loss of appetite, lack of ambition, and many other symptoms produced by Auto-Intoxication. Your whole system needs stirring up.

TAX LEVY OR BOND ISSUE?

THE proposal to levy a special tax of one-half mill for the road fund has thus far met with no opposition whatever. Throughout the state there is general recognition of the obvious fact that Colorado must raise more money to build more and better roads. But, while everybody admits this, it has been suggested that it would be better to secure the money by a bond issue.

But Colorado has about all the bond issues it can handle. Less than six months ago its Legislature met in special session and saddled another issue of a million dollars on the taxpayers to take care of the war debt in the strike district. Bonds run for long terms of years and the interest must be regularly met. In many counties it has been necessary to issue refunding bonds to take care of old debts, owing to failure to make provision for sinking funds.

But no such danger could ever follow the levying of a special road tax. If the law is passed the money will be raised each year as long as it is needed, and if the time ever comes when it is not needed the act may be repealed. With a bond issue this is impossible. When once issued a bond must run for the specified period of fifteen or twenty years, or whatever the time may be, and the interest must be met each year.

It is estimated that the half-mill levy will raise about $600,000, and since it is raised by direct taxation there will be no floating debts bearing heavy interest to be taken care of in the future. The work will be paid for each year, and meanwhile the people will receive its benefits. The proposed levy is one of the best and wisest measures for the development of Colorado that has been advanced in many years, and should receive general support at the polls.

WILL OTHER NATIONS JOIN?

REPORTS from Washington say that inside information received in official quarters there points to the early advent of at least three additional nations to the European struggle. These are Italy, Turkey and Roumania, and if they get into it the almost certain consequence would be the dragging in of Greece and Bulgaria.

Italy especially has been in a difficult position from the beginning. A member of the Triple Alliance, it was taken as a foregone conclusion that Italy would go to war in support of Germany and Austria-Hungary despite the hostile feeling of the Italian people against Austria. But this feeling speedily asserted itself in such a formidable way that the Italian government did not dare oppose it. Whatever the private opinion of the king and his advisers may have been, they realized that to take up arms in support of Austria and against France and England would be to make revolution inevitable.

Since then the Italian army has been quietly mobilized and the dispatches have repeatedly said that nearly a million men are now under arms and ready for action at a moment's notice. Italy is believed to be merely awaiting the most favorable moment to enter the conflict, and its campaign will, of course, be directed to recovering the Italian provinces of Istria and Dalmatia, on the Adriatic, which now belong to Austria.

* * * * * *

If Italy does no more than remain neutral to the end it will confer a service on the Triple Entente for which it will doubtless receive substantial rewards in the final recasting of the map of Europe. But by waiting until the Germans and Austrians are virtually beaten and then taking a hand in the game it can get even more.

If Turkey enters the fight it will be on the side of the Germans and as the result of urgent German solicitation. There was a time, only a few years ago, when Roumania was on friendly terms with Austria, but its differences with Russia have since been patched up, and if it fights it will be with the Triple Entente. At any other time this group of nations alone would be capable of putting on a war which would absorb the interest of the world, but now their contest will be a mere sideshow in comparison with the greater struggle. The advent of three or four additional combatants is not likely to have a determining effect one way or the other, for the issue of the whole affair depends on the outcome of the struggle between Germany and its three principal opponents.

THE RUSSIAN CAMPAIGN

THE capture by the Russians of Jaroslav, the Austrian fortified position in Galicia, ought to prove the turning point of the campaign on the eastern borders. It is now about six weeks since the Czar's troops, after completing their mobilization, began the aggressive movement in eastern Prussia and northern Austria. Considering the magnitude of the victories reported, especially as to the number of prisoners taken, it is somewhat surprising that the Russians have made no greater advance toward Berlin. But a consideration of their plan of campaign indicates that the reason is a determination to make sure of the complete conquest of Galicia before attempting a real invasion of Germany.

The Russians began the war with an attack on the German forts extending from Koenigsberg southward, but before the venture reached a decisive ending they centered their efforts on the attack on the Austrian army. The victory at Lemberg completely disorganized the Austrian defense, and it probably would have been safe for the Russians to abandon their attack on Austria and concentrate their forces for an advance on Berlin. Undoubtedly the cause of the Allies as a whole would have been helped by this procedure, for the Germans would have been compelled to withdraw a still larger portion of their army from France to repel the invasion in the East.

* * * * * *

But Russian policy was evidently looking toward the final division of the spoils. In the final readjustment of boundaries Russia's big share of the loot must be taken from Austria rather than from Germany, and Galicia, which is the northern province of the Austro-Hungarian empire, is the first choice. Neither Great Britain or France would sanction Russia's acquisition of territory east of the Vistula river, but they could not object to her taking Galicia, or even Hungary. Consequently, the Czar has preferred to make sure of his conquests in Galicia before going further.

Now that Jaroslav has been taken there is hardly a possibility of further effective opposition by the Austrians. Przemysl is cut off from communication and will probably be the next prize of war. This will virtually complete the Russian conquest of the entire north-eastern corner of the Austro-Hungarian empire, and it will be an easy matter for a relatively small Russian army to hold it while the main army renews the attack on Germany.

THE WAY TO A LASTING PEACE

From the Chicago Tribune.

The Germanistic society of Chicago has published a pamphlet by Prof. Ferdinand Schevill of the University of Chicago on "Germany and the Peace of Europe." Mainly it is a defense of the course of the German government, with great effort to be fair-minded, as may be judged from Professor Schevill's remark that in violating the neutrality of Belgium Germany "has made herself guilty of a very grave breach of law and right."

To the thoughtful American mind, regretting the war for all and without feeling in favor of any of the combatants, less interesting and important than the present "rights" and "wrongs" of the several parties are Professor Schevill's hopes of a durable peace being the outcome of these present calamities. On that point he voices a thought that goes to the root of the matter:

> Above all speculations, one thing is certain: Governments may pass, dynasties may vanish, but the peoples of Europe will remain substantially as they are within their historic boundaries. But these battered and impoverished peoples will be preserved for no other purpose than new wars and new disasters if they do not fit themselves with a new mind. And that means that the individual—for everything depends on him—must learn the lesson of peace and love for which in Europe he is as yet not greatly receptive.

Professor Schevill has touched the root of the matter, because there is no doubt that the war was "popular" in Europe, much as some of us would like to believe the contrary. In Servia, Belgium and France the feeling of the masses may be explained by the instincts of self-defense; in Russia by the sense of the Slavic brotherhood; in England by a conviction that the national honor was involved; in Germany by a conviction—which it is hard to regard here as other than a delusion—that the national existence was at stake. Whatever the instincts, convictions or delusions behind it, there is no doubt that these six governments, in going to war, were supported with practical unanimity by their peoples.

That is what Professor Schevill means by saying that the way to a lasting peace is for these peoples—or enough individuals among them to control the rest—to fit themselves with a new mind. And it must be with a mind that steadfastly refuses to regard war as a legitimate method of political or material advancement and perceives completely war's essential and irremediable wickedness.

WHAT WILL THE WOMEN DO?

From the Kansas City Star.

What effect the great struggle in Europe will have upon the status of woman is a question that lays open a field of interesting conjecture. Apparently women seem to have been hurled back from the point they had advanced to in the world's recognition; the startling recrudescence of a feudal militarism has seemingly undone the work of the last century, and women seem once more to occupy their old place in the feudal regime. Ostensibly, the women are reduced to their old labors by the mere fact of armies of men meeting to slay each other. "Fighting is man's work," and women are thereby automatically denied an equal place in the business of living.

Of course, more deeply seen, that is not true; the women, as they always have done in warfare, are bearing their portion in full measure. Though they do not carry the saber and the rifle on the field, what war do they not wage at home against famine, against pestilence and panic? In the fields of Europe they are gathering the grain; in the cities they are bent at their machines making cartridges, weaving cloths; in the homes they are tending the seed of the future—the nation's young.

And in the end will not Europe demand recognition for their equal service and of their right to say what next step the nations will take? Is the voice of womanhood in Europe still so small that it can be silenced by a lapse in the progress of humanity? Or has it grown so articulate that disaster will but lend its strength to cry out against such a violation of human rights as war is?

"A 'HOLY WAR' INDEED"

George Harvey, in the North American Review.

Behind the impenetrable veil of censorship millions of men are wrestling in the death-grapple, but only curt official announcements, ambiguous when not intentionally deceiving, whet the appetites of a breathless world tormented by the wild lucubrations of "war correspondents" far from the outermost fringe of actual hostilities. Only the trains of wounded and the convoys of prisoners bear eloquent testimony to the titanic struggles going on behind the veil: crashing duels of fortress and siege artillery, desperate infantry assaults strewing glacis and counterscarp with dead and dying, captured forts blown bodily into the air, fierce cavalry charges, hand-to-hand combats in forest and on mountainside, crouching battle lines torn and harried by raining shrapnel. High over all the silver glint of a war Zeppelin or the swift dart of a monoplane showing like a black vampire amid the evening mists against the western sky. This—and the prophecy of a leading army surgeon in the late Balkan wars that a month after the outbreak of the present conflagration a million and a half of men would be dead.

"For there fell down many slain, because the war was of God." A holy war! the kings, the divinely appointed kings, proclaim.

"And now," says the kaiser from his balcony to the people in the street, "I commend you to God; go to your church and kneel before God and pray for help for our gallant army."

"We, Nicholas II, by God's Grace Emperor and Autocrat of all the Russias," the czar responds.

"With God's help," echoes Francis Joseph.

Even the poet laureate sings:

It is God's answer. Though for many a year
This land forgot the faith that made her great,
Now, as her fleets cast off the North sea foam,
Casting aside all faction and all fear,
Thrice armed in all the majesty of her fate,
Britain remembers, and her sword strikes home.

THE TOUCHING TRIBUTE OF THE UNHAPPY.

From the Chicago Herald.

There is a picture to warm every American's heart in E. A. Powell's account of his journey last week from Antwerp to Brussels through the Belgian and German lines with dispatches for United States Minister Whitlock. With merely a reference to the desolation of Louvain he continues:

> From Louvain to Brussels our car with its fluttering flags passed between lines of cheering people all the way. Men stood with uncovered heads as they saw the Stars and Stripes whirl by; women waved their handkerchiefs as tears rolled down their cheeks. Soon we were passing between solid walls of Belgians who acclaimed "Vive Amerique!" A lump came into my throat and tears filled my eyes. To these wretched, terror-stricken people the banner that screamed from our windshield really was "a Flag of the Free."

We are urged on all sides to "sympathise" with this or that of the warring nations of Europe, and to hold its cause "just" above all others. Our duty, as our president has well reminded us, is to avoid partisanship with any in speech and act and to give our first thought and our entire loyalty to America.

Yet there is one people in war-stricken Europe to whom our sympathies must especially go out. They are the people of Belgium. They cherished no designs of aggrandizement; they sought no gain at others' loss; they asked only to till their fields and toil in their mills in peace; they fought only in defense of their homes.

No wonder the Belgians, so sorely and undeservedly smitten, cheered when they saw the banner of the great and peaceful republic across the western seas. Theirs was the touching tribute of the unhappy and oppressed to the happy and the free.

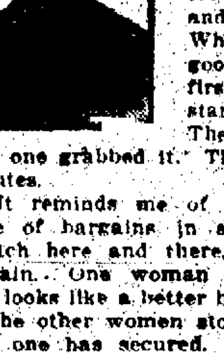
Hens and Human Nature

BY RUTH CAMERON

Molly, the little stenographer lady, leaned over the barnyard fence. The Cynic hailed her: "What are you doing?"

"Studying human nature," said Molly, soberly.

"I've always hated hens," she explained. "They have such cold, beady eyes. But this morning I stopped to watch them for a minute—I have been here almost an hour! I never knew hens could be so nearly human."



"In their intelligence, or their lack of it?" asked the Cynic.

"Oh—their lack of it, by all means. See that red hen. Well, just before you came she found an old cigar stub. She picked it up. Apparently every other hen in the yard saw her do it, because they all started for her, and she tried to run and chew it at the same time. When she found it was no good, she dropped it and the first pursuer picked it up and started off with it in her turn. Then she dropped it and the next one grabbed it." They kept it up for about 10 minutes.

"It reminds me of women foraging around a table of bargains in a department store. They scratch here and there, each seeking the biggest bargain. One woman will snatch up something that looks like a better bargain than the rest. Then all the other women stop hunting to see what the first one has secured. They all hunger for that particular thing. The first woman, having examined it, finds it not as good as she thought, and the second snatches it up. She drops it, and a third grabs it, and so on. Just like the hens, for all the world!

"That's one quality the hens seem to have very strongly in common with us humans. They are never satisfied with what they've got—they're always watching to see what somebody else is getting. There is plenty for all in the yard. But the yellow hen is afraid that the red hen or the white hen will get something she doesn't, and the red and the white hens have the same feeling toward her and each other."

"What's happening now?" asked the Cynic, as the hens rushed madly toward the end of the yard.

"Oh, nothing special," said Molly. "That's just another of their human characteristics. Whenever two or three hens happen to get together and seem to be intent upon something, all the rest rush over to see what it's all about. That's something you can see any day in any city."

"But the cocks don't seem to rush about so much," said the Cynic. "I suppose," he added maliciously, "that being the male of the species, they are more intelligent than the hens."

"Are they?" asked Molly. "Watch that young cock over there. He stalks about like a king. He thinks he's the most important creature on the face of the earth. But the hens pay very little attention to him, the farmer pays none. By and by one of those younger cocks will lick him, and eventually he'll get the ax. But like lots of males I know of another species he thinks the females of his kind are all crazy about him, and that everything that happens is ordained for his benefit. He's almost human, in fact, in his conceit."

"Come away," begged the Cynic. "We are going to have roast chicken for dinner and I don't want to feel like a cannibal."

VEST Pocket Essays

BY GEORGE FITCH
Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

CIVILIZATION

Civilization is a handsome garment which man wears with pride during peace and which he pulls off and hangs on a nail when he indulges in war.

Civilization is the cultivation of the arts, including that of humanity and unselfishness. When a country is civilized it spends more on music than it does on vice, and it is so careful of life that few murderers live long enough to have their death sentences confirmed by the highest court.

Civilization rejoices in the happiness of the humblest man, and goes out of its way to protect dumb animals. Then in the midst of peace war is declared and the nation which has been shuddering over the necessity of hanging the poor wretch who has just murdered his family leaps to arms with a shout and sets out to make life one long funeral procession for its neighbor.

The man who beat his son yesterday for pulling the cat's tail, spends today shooting at the father of seven small children and when he hits him in the chest he shouts with triumph and sings his national hymn.

The man who gave money yesterday to help a widow buy bread will go through the enemies' fields with a torch tomorrow and reflects with pride upon the fact that when he is through burning the crops the children of that country will have to eat straw through the winter.

And the citizen whose hand leaped to his pocket to feed the hungry last month will take a large, sharp saber next week and cut that citizen in two above the watch pocket without a qualm and with the utmost good feeling.

That is what war does for civilization. After two countries have been shooting at each other for a year or two civilization has to be given a pulmotor treatment before it can revive sufficiently to keep the killing of children from being listed as pastime.

Civilization has made this world endurable and it is the one thing which should not be given a vacation even if we have to abandon war to keep it at work.

WHAT TO CARRY IN THE POCKET

From Outing.

Every article that goes into the pocket should be as light and compact as is consistent with usefulness and durability. Individual preference, of course, has a place in this field, and it makes a difference, too, what kind of a trip you are taking. There are five articles that I always carry, no matter whether my trip be long or short or what my objective may be. The pocket knife is so common that little need be said concerning it. Next is the waterproof match box. The pocket ax may be had in 20, 24 and 27-ounce weights, also, but the 16-ounce is the best size to carry in the pocket. If you intend to cruise the wilderness to any extent you most certainly need a compass, and many a time you will have occasion to use one where you little expected.

In connection with the compass one naturally thinks of maps. These, if they be good ones, not only serve as valuable guides to help one through unfamiliar country, but also help to identify such topographical features as mountains, lakes and streams as they are passed. These should be cut in sections, mounted on bookbinder's cloth, and carried in a special waterproof receptacle.

The pedometer is a companionable little instrument for the trail.

A party of two or more on a woodland hike will find that one good whistle to each person is very convenient. A code system of signals can be arranged, say, one single note to let the others know your whereabouts; two notes, I've found what I was looking for; three notes, C. Q. D.—Come! Quick! Danger!

Pocket cameras now exist in reality as well as in name. Automatic pistols are excellent pocket guns, and the pocket fishing rod is a remarkable little article.

WHEN CHARLEMAGNE TOOK A BATH

Harrison Rhodes, Harper's Magazine for October.

Like so many of the European warm springs and bath places, Baden-Baden was first appreciated by the Romans. The emperor Caracala, in especial, honored it by his patronage and adorned it in various Roman ways. With the fall of the empire and the arrival together of the barbarians and Christianity, bathing, and, above all, bathing in warm water, fell into disuse all over Europe as an enfeebling and immoral practice. It was only when Charlemagne, whose name was one to conjure with, dipped his imperial person in the hot springs of Aix-la-Chapelle that bathing, after seven centuries of disuse, became again permissible, if not almost desirable. From that time on, with varying fortunes, Baden-Baden was a health and pleasure resort.

IN THE EARLY DAYS

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

SEPTEMBER 24, 1884.

The Democratic state convention was called to order in Denver by Hon. T. M. Patterson. It passed off harmoniously. Alva Adams was nominated for governor.

J. B. Hodge and L. E. Sherman were laying out the ground for the G. A. R. encampment, which was to be held here in October, on the vacant ground west of Cascade avenue, between Bijou street and Platte avenue.

Fire Chief O'Brien had some of the boys out sprinkling the streets.

Alderman L. B. Farrar was in town for a brief stay and announced that he would keep the Seven Lakes hotel open through October.

Thirty pupils were enrolled at the Deaf and Blind school and it was expected that the attendance would be double that before the end of the term.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

SEPTEMBER 24, 1894.

A mining stock exchange was started in Cripple Creek.

James Beahears was called to Springfield, Mo., by the serious illness of his father.

Judge McIntyre, the Republican candidate for governor, was expected here, but was delayed in Denver.

USING UP TISSUE

In goiter the activity of the disease has no relation to the size of the lump in the neck. It is dependent upon the secretion activity of the thyroid gland. A large gland may secrete little; a smaller one may secrete much. Dubois says that the level of the total metabolism seems to be the best index of the activity of thyroid secretion.

When the thyroid gland is very small, as in cretins, the person is nearly as cold-blooded as a snake or a frog in winter. A cretin hibernates all the time. The heat production of one cretin examined was but 18 per cent of the normal. When he was fed thyroid his heat production went to normal.

On the other hand, in one case of goiter the heat production was 82 per cent above normal, while the average in seven cases was 80 above normal.

The goiter subjects burn tissue in great excess. They are the antithesis of the cretin myxedema group. Furthermore, when treated with appropriate antithyroid preparations the rate of consumption of tissue falls.

Dubois thinks that the rapid rates with which tissue is burned in typhoid fever and in goiter is a slow rate as compared with the rate of destruction in delirium tremens. The constant jerking and muscular twitching and the maniacal excitement will burn the body like a flame. The fuel for this flame may be supplied by food, but as delirium tremens subjects are without appetite, the chance is that it will be drawn from the tissues themselves.

The excess of heat in delirium tremens is not due directly to the alcohol. Lusk found that when alcohol is taken the heat produced is increased about 10 per cent and the alcohol is burned in preference to other substances. When glucose is fed in full doses the heat production is increased 30 to 40 per cent, according to the amount fed. But when alcohol and glucose are fed the heat production goes higher than when glucose alone is fed and the alcohol is burned in preference to the glucose.

However, before a man gets delirium tremens the alcohol has been burned up. The increased production of heat in such a man is at the expense of his tissues.

In one case of malaria at the height of the fever Dubois found the heat production was 83 per cent of the normal. In anaemia the heat production is about 20 per cent above the normal. The same is true of leukaemia and cancer. In all stuporous conditions it is low.

One interesting observation is as to the effect of taking a meal on the production of heat. Immediately upon eating there is a sensation of cold. The blood has been drawn from the skin to the organs of digestion. Eskimos who eat heavy meals at long intervals and who are surrounded by cold air have been noted to chatter and shake almost as in a chill upon eating a heavy meal.

In a few hours the foods have been digested, dissolved, and split into simple substances, and as such find their way into the blood. The blood carries them to the tissues. The tissues get busy using them up. As soon as this period is reached there is a great production of heat.

Lusk says: "Everyone has experienced the increased feeling of warmth after a heavy meal, and no one eats largely in summer, for it increases heat production and consequently increases sweating."

Meat stimulates the tissues to make heat. Fats are themselves burned to make it.

DANGER OF TUBERCULOSIS

Reader writes: "Is there any danger of contracting tuberculosis by sleeping and living with a person that has the malady? Please let me know what precautions to take and if it is advisable to sleep with the person?"

REPLY.

1. Yes.
2. A person with tuberculosis should not occupy the bed with another person. Whenever possible, he should have a room to himself. The room must be kept scrupulously clean. The windows must be kept open day and night, winter and summer. The bed must be sunned each day. The patient must have his own eating and drinking outfit. He must spit in sputum cups or in paper napkins. He must rinse and clean his mouth frequently. He must hold a handkerchief before his face when coughing. The Chicago Tuberculosis institute will be glad to furnish you directions for the care of consumptives. If desired, it will have a nurse show you what to do.

RUPTURED BLOOD VESSELS

L. L. writes: "Could you tell me what causes ruptured blood vessels under the skin? The skin on my lower limbs is that way. Can anything be done to remedy it? Does it come from swimming? I have done quite a little of that this summer."

REPLY.

I do not know what causes it. Swimming does not. Generally, the blood vessels are not ruptured. They are enlarged. Small microscopic blood vessels, too small to be seen with the eye, have been dilated until they are plainly in evidence. Treatment with an electric needle will effect a cure, but the cure is more trouble than the condition.

GUM CHEWING HABIT

M. L. K. writes: "Please advise whether it is injurious to the health of a girl 3½ years old to chew gum frequently."

REPLY.

Chewing gum judiciously is good for the digestion in adults.

The same cannot be said for a child 3½ years old. It is not needed to stimulate the secretion or the muscle of the stomach. It produces an unnecessary amount of saliva. It establishes the habit of working the jaws.

ABE MARTIN'S WISE SAYINGS

In the October American Magazine "Abe" Martin publishes more wise sayings, a few of which follow:

"There's no congestion o' traffic on Easy street."

"A firm chin is helpless without a stiff upper lip."

"A loafer must feel funny when a holiday comes along."

"I hate t' eat by a feller that holds his arms like a snare drummer."

"Tell Binkley found two dollars in a ole vest yisterday an' he can't think who he owes 'em to."

"It's nice t' live in a little town where you don't have t' give somebody a dime t' hold your overcoat."

"What's become o' th' ole-fashioned girl that used t' say, 'Lips that touch wine shall never touch mine'?"

St. Louis Climbs to Third Place, Cubs Losing; Lavender Uses 'Emery Ball', Charge

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—New York was virtually eliminated today from the pennant race, losing a double-header to St. Louis, 2 to 1 and 9 to 0. It was the first time New York had lost two games in one day this season. St. Louis climbed to third place in the league standing.

The visitors broke Tesreau's winning streak in the first game, when the local star lost a pitchers' battle to Perritt. Tesreau held St. Louis to three hits, but his wildness beat him. St. Louis won the game in the eighth, when Butler was hit, stole second and scored on a wild pitch.

Marquard pitched the second game for New York and suffered his twelfth straight defeat. He was hammered hard. Sallee kept New York's hits scattered and was effective in the pinches.

CINCINNATI REDS GET EVEN BREAK WITH BOSTON

BOSTON, Sept. 23.—An even break was the result of today's double-header, Boston winning the first and Cincinnati the second. As New York lost twice this afternoon, the local team increased its lead in the pennant race to six games. A liner by Smith that was blocked by a boy as it was bounding into the center field bleachers gave Boston the winning tally in the final inning of the opening contest, the rap going for a homerun.

The second game was a pitchers' battle. Lear, formerly of Princeton, had the better of the argument with Davis. The visitors won out in the ninth inning on a pass to Lear, a single by Herzog, a force out by Killifer and doubles by Miller and Niehoff. It was Cincinnati's first victory in 20 straight games.

Lavender pitched well until the third inning, when Manager Dooin claimed the pitcher had rubbed the ball on emery paper and passed the paper to Zimmerman. Umpire Rigler examined the ball in play and then kept it. Rigler will send the ball to President Tener of the National league as evidence.

Alexander registered his twenty-sixth victory this season.

VORACIOUS APPETITE COST DUNDEE WORLD RING TITLE

Erstwhile Featherweight Has Eaten Himself Out of $100,000 and Life of Ease

By RINGSIDE.

NEW YORK, September 23.—A voracious appetite has cost Johnny Dundee an embryo fortune and the attendant glorification of being a world's ring champion. We've often heard of someone being able to "eat you out of house and home," but here we have an instance of a supposedly intelligent boxer eating himself out of at least $100,000 and a life of ease.

Ever since Dundee boxed Featherweight Champion Johnny Kilbane a 20-round draw, the pseudo Scotchman has been looked upon as associate holder of the title, although he did not gain the monetary benefits Kilbane enjoyed. Nevertheless, Dundee was considered at least the equal of Champion Kilbane, and experts generally declared that if the pair ever clashed again Dundee would be returned an easy winner.

After 16 months of bickering, a return match was finally arranged; all signs pointed to a Dundee victory. This is a year of upsets, and the worst year ever experienced by ring championships. The outcome of this bout was to be another upheaval of the well-known "dope," and Kilbane was to be dethroned. Even the stars said so, according to a noted astrologer.

Regular Lightweight.

Tom McCarey had completed all details for the championship match, and the combatants were already in training. The date set was next Tuesday. The boxers were going through their final stages of preliminary training a few days ago, when McCarey decided to call on the men and ascertain their condition.

All went well in the Kilbane camp. The champion was having a hard time coming down to the stipulated weight, 122 pounds ringside, the featherweight limit, but he was gradually reaching the notch, and he said he would feel strong at the poundage.

McCarey then visited Dundee at his quarters. He indulgently watched Dundee go through his motions, and then asked him to step on the scales. The Monteith battler nimbly tripped to the weighing machine, and the weights were adjusted.

Horrors! McCarey was taken back, for Dundee moved the beam at just 133 pounds, 11 pounds more than what he was to weigh at ringside for Kilbane less than two weeks hence. McCarey pondered a few tense moments, and then informed Dundee and his manager that the match was off.

See What an Appetite Cost.

Under ordinary circumstances, McCarey might have granted Dundee a few days' respite before canceling the match. But the promoter realized that Dundee had been at work for over two weeks, and had not been able to reduce even a few scant pounds. Dundee was "hard" at 133 pounds, and it was obvious that he could not reach 122 pounds in such a short time and do himself justice against the champion.

Dundee's manager pleaded with McCarey and Jimmy Dunn, Kilbane's mentor, but to no avail. Monteith was prepared to post a forfeit that his man would make 122 pounds at noon on the day of the fight, but Dunn would hear nothing of it, for he said he wants it to be an untainted championship fight for the featherweight title at the featherweight limit, namely, 122 pounds at the ringside.

Thus did the match for the world's championship slip through Dundee's fingers, and thus did a ravenous yearning to eat, eat, eat cost Johnny Dundee a tidy fortune and the idolatry of ring followers.

Not So Good as Lightweight.

It might be argued that Dundee's graduation from the featherweight class into the lightweight's ranks put him in a position to battle for the 133-pound championship. Quite true, but it must be admitted that Dundee would have less chance against the premier lightweight than he would against the leading featherweight, for the simple reason that his extra poundage would retard him in his boxing.

Dundee is essentially a boxer, with a penchant to hop, skip and jump before an opponent. The extra 10 pounds assuredly would not make his feet feel lighter and he would have to discard his nimble tactics in order to contend with the flat-footed, harder hitting lightweight.

That the latter theory is correct was proven in Dundee's fight against Freddie Welsh, before the latter became lightweight champion. Dundee attempted to outbox Welsh, but after a few rounds found that he could not keep up the pace, and was easily outpointed by the Briton. In the later rounds Dundee could hardly lift his hands, and his knees were inclined to come together to support their owner. Dundee was a leg-weary after six rounds, and was an easy victim for Welsh's jabs in the last few sessions.

Joe Pinello Wants to Meet Williams Again

Joe Pinello of Denver, who lost to Kid Williams of this city in a six-round bout at Ramona last Tuesday night, is seeking revenge. So anxious is the Denverite to show his true mettle that he has asked Manager Schubert to put him on with Williams on the next card, setting 10 rounds as the limit. This Schubert probably will do, the curtain-raiser to Tuesday night's bill being decidedly popular with fans.

Pinello explains his showing of Tuesday as due to lack of training. He says he was too busy to do much work, and that he hadn't sparred for some weeks. Whatever the cause of the adverse decision, he is to get another chance at the dusky lad who waltzed around him throughout six long rounds.

JUST WHAT HAPPENED TO ROBINSON IN O'TOOLE DEAL

Did John McGraw Slip Something Over on Portly Person Who Bosses Dodgers?

By FRANK G. MENKE

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Wilbert Robinson, the portly person who manages the Brooklyn Dodgers, is trying to figure out whether John McGraw slipped something over on him relative to "Marty" O'Toole, the $22,500 pitcher.

About a month ago, when word reached Robinson that Barney Dreyfus was going to ask waivers on O'Toole, the Dodger boss remarked to McGraw that, "I guess I'll put a bid in for that fellow."

"Doncha do it," said John to Wilbur. "His elbow is gone."

Wilbert believed John—and he spurned the chance to get the pitcher. The next thing Wilbert knew, however, was that John McGraw had slipped into Pittsburg and slipped right out again with O'Toole in tow. Worse than that, John sicced O'Toole onto the Dodgers in O'Toole's first start in a Giant uniform, and O'Toole gave the Dodgers a beating.

Naturally, Wilbur is much puzzled. For many years Wilbert acted as John's understudy in those dear old Giant days. Wilbert grew to know John as a truthful man. He trusted him like a child trusts a fond and doting parent. In Wilbert's eyes John was all right. Even after Wilbert cast his Giant uniform aside and donned the togs of the Dodgers he loved and revered John in the same old way.

But now Wilbert is wondering. Has John taken a sudden turn for the worse? Did he intentionally double-cross an old pal by steering that pal away from the chance to grab a pitcher at a bargain price, that he could grab him unto himself? Or was it done accidentally, or did John mean that the left elbow of the right-handed O'Toole was gone?

"How long will the Athletic machine last?" asks a fan, who adds: The Cub machine went to smash after winning four pennants in five years, and the Cubs of 1910 looked just as powerful and just as enduring as the Athletics look today."

They looked it—but they weren't. The Cub machine, when it ended the 1910 season, was a somewhat battered machine—battered by age, the stiffening and the decline that comes sooner or later in every aggregation of athletes.

The Athletics today, excluding Plank and Bender, average about five years younger per man than did the 1910 Cubs. McInnes is just above the voting age; Collins, Baker and Berry are not very far along in their twenties. Schang, the regular catcher, is about 21. The outfield is composed mostly of kids and the Athletics' pitching staff averages well under 25, with Bender and Plank excepted.

As for those two veteran twirlers—one nearing 40, the other around 36—well, they look good for about four years more at least. Perhaps the added years suddenly may make their presence felt, and soon rob them both of their power to baffle the big league batters, but their 1914 showings give no such indication. Recently figures on American league pitching showed Bender leading the league, only a few points from the .800 mark, with Eddie Plank in second place, just a few points in the rear of the Indian.

The Athletics, as a team, rank today as a more evenly balanced one than the Cubs in their palmiest days. Every man that Connie Mack plays regularly is a finished player—one of the shining stars in his own position. And, with these qualities and with youth in its favor, it doesn't seem any exaggeration to say that the Athletic machine will last four or five years longer.

London Paper Quotes Lincoln's Plea for Draft of Men for War

LONDON, Sept. 23.—The Spectator, in an article on "President Lincoln and compulsory service," gives verbatim Lincoln's plea for the draft as taken from John Hay's biography of Lincoln.

The paper says that while England is likely to get only a million men without conscription, it is obviously better to leave things as they are during the war, "even though the voluntary system acts with a good deal of unfairness and places a heavy burden on willing shoulders."

"We put Lincoln's words forward," says the Spectator, "not for immediate needs, but because they are so wise and stimulating and because at the moment people will really listen on a question of universal service."

DOES HISTORY REPEAT ITSELF

One of the surest ways of impressing historical facts on the minds of readers, students and amusement seekers is through the avenue of romance. That Mr. George Kleine has recognized this fact is evidenced particularly in his latest big photo-drama production "For Napoleon and France," which will be the attraction at the Empress theater today.

Although replete with spectacular battle scenes that cannot fail to enthrall the auditors, they but form the background for the romance that predominates. The story of this great photo-drama relates that Captain Larive decorated for valor, a hero in the eyes of his country and the favorite of Napoleon, becomes the lion of the French court then steeped in immorality where intrigue and falsity were apparently the prime virtues.

Madame De Longueville, a court beauty of wondrous charm and a terror not only for France but the entire world, turns his head temporarily by her fascinating wiles. She even goes so far as to attempt to induce him to disobey military orders, but the infatuated youth is saved from this disgrace through the services of his sister. Vengeance is then the sole desire of the adventuress. Her plans for reprisal are fairly successful and death faces the heroic young soldier. Napoleon's aid is secured through the good offices of the devoted sister to the young captain. His restoration to the favor of the emperor and the arms of his sister and his long lost father, who, though he knew not, had sentenced his son to death, are dramatically portrayed events that bring down the curtain on this charming romance.

Audiences, who in the past have been delighted by the marvelous Kleine photo-dramas, will recognize in the gallant young captain an old friend—Sig. Anthony Novelli, the Vinitius in "Quo Vadis" and the Antony in "Antony and Cleopatra." Sig. Giovanna Gonzales Terribili, who is still winning plaudits of thousands for her delineation of Cleopatra, cleverly characterizes the adventuress. Sig. George Cattaneo, the Nero of "Quo Vadis," strikingly portrays the character of Napoleon. Many other Italian actors who have been featured in the Kleine productions fill minor roles.

THREE MAIN CAUSES FOR BAD GOLF PLAYING

In the October American Magazine "Jerry" Travers, four times amateur golf champion of the United States, writes a most interesting article entitled "Getting Back on Your Game." In the following extract he names what he considers the main causes for golfing faults:

"There are three main causes for golfing faults that I have noted in my experience with the game.

"The first is 'looking up,' or moving the head.

"The second is swaying or shifting the body in advance of the arms, thereby spoiling the timing of the swing.

"The third is loss of confidence in making a shot, especially upon the putting green.

"The first of these is a combination of the physical and the mental. More bad shots are made from 'looking up'—not looking at the ball—than any other one factor."

St. Louis Climbs to Third Place, Cubs Losing; Lavender Uses 'Emery Ball', Charge

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—New York was virtually eliminated today from the pennant race, losing a double-header to St. Louis, 2 to 1 and 9 to 0. It was the first time New York had lost two games in one day this season. St. Louis climbed to third place in the league standing.

The visitors broke Tesreau's winning streak in the first game, when the local star lost a pitchers' battle to Perritt. Tesreau held St. Louis to three hits, but his wildness beat him. St. Louis won the game in the eighth, when Butler was hit, stole second and scored on a wild pitch.

Marquard pitched the second game for New York and suffered his twelfth straight defeat. He was hammered hard. Sallee kept New York's hits scattered and was effective in the pinches.

CINCINNATI REDS GET EVEN BREAK WITH BOSTON

BOSTON, Sept. 23.—An even break was the result of today's double-header, Boston winning the first and Cincinnati the second. As New York lost twice this afternoon, the local team increased its lead in the pennant race to six games. A liner by Smith that was blocked by a boy as it was bounding into the center field bleachers gave Boston the winning tally in the final inning of the opening contest, the rap going for a homerun.

The second game was a pitchers' battle. Lear, formerly of Princeton, had the better of the argument with Davis. The visitors won out in the ninth inning on a pass to Lear, a single by Herzog, a force out by Killifer and doubles by Miller and Niehoff. It was Cincinnati's first victory in 20 straight games.

DODGERS BEAT PIRATES; EIGHTH STRAIGHT VICTORY

BROOKLYN, Sept. 23.—The Brooklyns today ran their string of consecutive victories to eight, defeating Pittsburg twice.

Pfeffer was almost invincible in the first game, allowing only two hits until the ninth when Scheeren made a homerun. Cooper, who started for Pittsburg, was banished by the umpire in the third inning after protesting against a strike called on him while at bat.

Nap Rucker in the second game held Pittsburg to five scattered hits.

PHILLIES DEFEAT CUBS; CRAVATH'S 2 HOMERS NET 5

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23.—Homeruns sent in seven of Philadelphia's tallies in the game in which the home team defeated Chicago today. All the circuit drives were made off Lavender. Cravath's two homers sent in five runs and Becker's four-base drive scored a runner besides himself.

Lavender pitched well until the third inning, when Manager Dooin claimed the pitcher had rubbed the ball on emery paper and passed the paper to Zimmerman. Umpire Rigler examined the ball in play and then kept it. Rigler will send the ball to President Tener, of the National league as evidence.

Alexander registered his twenty-sixth victory this season.

By RINGSIDE.

NEW YORK, September 23.—A voracious appetite has cost Johnny Dundee an embryo fortune and the attendant glorification of being a world's ring champion. We've often heard of someone being able to "eat you out of house and home," but here we have an instance of a supposedly intelligent boxer eating himself out of at least $100,000 and a life of ease.

Ever since Dundee boxed Featherweight Champion Johnny Kilbane a 20-round draw, the pseudo Scotchman has been looked upon as associate holder of the title, although he did not gain the monetary benefits Kilbane enjoyed. Nevertheless, Dundee was considered at least the equal of Champion Kilbane, and experts generally declared that if the pair ever clashed again Dundee would be returned an easy winner.

After 16 months of bickering, a return match was finally arranged; all signs pointed to a Dundee victory. This is a year of upsets, and the worst year ever experienced by ring championships. The outcome of this bout was to be another upheaval of the well-known "dope," and Kilbane was to be dethroned. Even the stars said so, according to a noted astrologer.

Regular Lightweight.

Tom McCarey had completed all details for the championship match, and the combatants were already in training. The date set was next Tuesday. The boxers were going through their final stages of preliminary training a few days ago, when McCarey decided to call on the men and ascertain their condition.

All went well in the Kilbane camp. The champion was having a hard time coming down to the stipulated weight, 122 pounds ringside, the featherweight limit, but he was gradually reaching the notch, and he said he would feel strong at the poundage.

McCarey then visited Dundee at his quarters. He indulgently watched Dundee go through his motions, and then asked him to step on the scales. The Monteith battler nimbly tripped to the weighing machine, and the weights were adjusted.

Horrors! McCarey was taken back, for Dundee teased the beam at just 133 pounds, 11 pounds more than what he was to weigh at ringside for Kilbane less than two weeks hence. McCarey pondered a few tense moments, and then informed Dundee and his manager that the match was off.

See What an Appetite Cost.

Under ordinary circumstances, McCarey might have granted Dundee a few days' respite before canceling the match. But the promoter realized that Dundee had been at work for over two weeks, and had not been able to reduce even a few scant pounds. Dundee was "hard" at 133 pounds, and it was obvious that he could not reach 122 pounds in such a short time and do himself justice against the champion.

Dundee's manager pleaded with McCarey and Jimmy Dunn, Kilbane's mentor, but to no avail. Monteith was prepared to post a forfeit that his man would make 122 pounds at noon on the day of the fight, but Dunn would hear nothing of it, for he said he wants it to be an untainted championship fight for the featherweight title at the featherweight limit, namely, 122 pounds at the ringside.

Thus did the match for the world's championship slip through Dundee's fingers, and thus did a ravenous yearning to eat, eat, eat cost Johnny Dundee a tidy fortune and the idolatry of ring followers.

Not So Good as Lightweight.

It might be argued that Dundee's graduation from the featherweight class into the lightweight's ranks put him in a position to battle for the 133-pound championship. Quite true, but it must be admitted that Dundee would have less chance against the premier lightweight than he would against the leading featherweight, for the simple reason that his extra poundage would retard him in his boxing.

Dundee is essentially a boxer, with a penchant to hop, skip and jump before an opponent. The extra 10 pounds assuredly would not make his feet feel lighter and he would have to discard his nimble tactics in order to contend with the flat-footed, harder hitting lightweight.

That the latter theory is correct was proven in Dundee's fight against Freddie Welsh, before the latter became lightweight champion. Dundee attempted to outbox Welsh, but after a few rounds found that he could not keep up the pace, and was easily outpointed by the Briton. In the later rounds Dundee could hardly lift his hands, and his knees were inclined to come together to support their owner. Dundee was a leg-weary after six rounds, and was an easy victim for Welsh's jabs in the last few sessions.

Joe Pinello Wants to Meet Williams Again

Joe Pinello of Denver, who lost to Kid Williams of this city in a six-round bout at Ramona last Tuesday night, is seeking revenge. So anxious is the Denverite to show his true mettle that he has asked Manager Schubert to put him on with Williams on the next card, setting 10 rounds as the limit. This Schubert probably will do, the curtain-raiser to Tuesday night's bill being decidedly popular with fans.

Pinello explains his showing of Tuesday as due to lack of training. He says he was too busy to do much work, and that he hadn't sparred for some weeks. Whatever the cause of the adverse decision, he is to get another chance at the dusky lad who waltzed around him throughout six long rounds.

JUST WHAT HAPPENED TO ROBINSON IN O'TOOLE DEAL

Did John McGraw Slip Something Over on Portly Person Who Bosses Dodgers?

By FRANK G. MENKE

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Wilbert Robinson, the portly person who manages the Brooklyn Dodgers, is trying to figure out whether John McGraw slipped something over on him relative to "Marty" O'Toole, the $22,500 pitcher.

About a month ago, when word reached Robinson that Barney Dreyfus was going to ask waivers on O'Toole, the Dodgers boss remarked to McGraw that, "I guess I'll put a bid in for that fellow."

Wilbert believed John—and he spurned the chance to get the pitcher. The next thing Wilbert knew, however, was that John McGraw had slipped into Pittsburg and slipped right out again with O'Toole in tow. Worse than that, John sicked O'Toole onto the Dodgers in O'Toole's first start in a Giant uniform, and O'Toole gave the Dodgers a beating.

Naturally, Wilbur is much puzzled. For many years Wilbert acted as John's understudy in those dear old Giant days. Wilbert grew to know John as a truthful man. He trusted him like a child trusts a fond and doting parent. In Wilbert's eyes John was all right. Even after Wilbert cast his Giant uniform aside and donned the togs of the Dodgers he loved and revered John in the same old way.

But now Wilbert is wondering. Has John taken a sudden turn for the worse? Did he intentionally double-cross an old pal by steering that pal away from the chance to grab a pitcher at a bargain price, that he could grab him unto himself? Or was it done accidentally, or did John mean that the left elbow of the right-handed O'Toole was gone?

"How long will the Athletic machine last?" asks a fan, who adds: "The Cub machine went to smash after winning four pennants in five years, and the Cubs of 1910 looked just as powerful and just as enduring as the Athletics look today."

They looked it—but they weren't. The Cub machine, when it ended the 1910 season, was a somewhat battered machine—battered by age, the stiffening and the decline that comes sooner or later in every aggregation of athletes.

The Athletics today, excluding Plank and Bender, average about five years younger per man than did the 1910 Cubs. McInnes is just above the voting age; Collins, Baker and Barry are not very far along in their twenties. Schang, the regular catcher, is about 21. The outfield is composed mostly of kids and the Athletics' pitching staff averages well under 25, with Bender and Plank excepted.

As for those two veteran twirlers—one nearing 40, the other around 36—well, they look good for about four years more at least. Perhaps the added years suddenly may make their presence felt, and soon rob them both of their power to baffle the big league batters, but their 1914 showings give no such indication. Recently figures on American league pitching showed Bender leading the league, only a few points from the .900 mark, with Eddie Plank in second place, just a few points in the rear of the Indian.

The Athletics, as a team, rank today as a more evenly balanced one than the Cubs in their palmiest days. Every man that Connie Mack plays regularly is a finished player—one of the shining stars in his own position. And, with these qualities and with youth in its favor, it doesn't seem any exaggeration to say that the Athletic machine will last four or five years longer.

London Paper Quotes Lincoln's Plea for Draft of Men for War

LONDON, Sept. 23.—The Spectator, in an article on "President Lincoln and compulsory service," gives verbatim Lincoln's plea for the draft as taken from John Hay's biography of Lincoln.

The paper says that while England is likely to get only a million men without conscription, it is obviously better to leave things as they are during the war, "even though the voluntary system acts with a good deal of unfairness and places a heavy burden on willing shoulders."

"We put Lincoln's words forward," says the Spectator, "not for immediate needs, but because they are so wise and stimulating and because at the moment people will really listen on a question of universal service."

DOES HISTORY REPEAT ITSELF

One of the surest ways of impressing historical facts on the minds of readers, students and amusement seekers is through the avenue of romance. That Mr. George Kleine has recognized this fact is evidenced particularly in his latest big photo-drama production "For Napoleon and France," which will be the attraction at the Empress theater today.

Although replete with spectacular battle scenes that cannot fail to enthrall the auditors, they but form the background for the romance that predominates. The story of this great photo-drama relates that Captain Larive decorated for valor, a hero in the eyes of his country and the favorite of Napoleon, becomes the lion of the French court then steeped in immorality where intrigue and falsity were apparently the prime virtues.

Madame De Longueville, a court beauty of wondrous charm and a toast not only for France but the entire world, turns his head temporarily by her fascinating wiles. She even goes so far as to attempt to induce him to disobey military orders, but the infatuated youth is saved from this disgrace through the services of his sister. Vengeance is then the sole desire of the adventuress. Her plans for reprisal are fairly successful and death faces the heroic young soldier. Napoleon's aid is secured through the good offices of the devoted sister of the young captain. His restoration to the favor of the emperor and the arms of his sister and his long lost father, who, though he knew not, had sentenced his son to death, are dramatically portrayed events that bring down the curtain on this charming romance.

COURT SCENE IN "FOR NAPOLEON AND FRANCE"

Audiences, who in the past have been delighted by the marvelous Kleine photo-dramas, will recognize in the gallant young captain an old friend—Sig. Anthony Novelli, the Vinitius in "Quo Vadis" and the Antony in "Antony and Cleopatra." Sig. Giovanna Gonzales Terribili, who is still winning plaudits of thousands for her delineation of Cleopatra, cleverly characterizes the adventuress. Sig. George Cattaneo, the Nero of "Quo Vadis," strikingly portrays the character of Napoleon. Many other Italian actors who have been featured in the Kleine productions fill minor roles.

THREE MAIN CAUSES FOR BAD GOLF PLAYING

In the October American Magazine "Jerry" Travers, four times amateur golf champion of the United States, writes a most interesting article entitled "Getting Back on Your Game." In the following extract he names what he considers the main causes for golfing faults:

"There are three main causes for golfing faults that I have noted in my experience with the game.

"The first is 'looking up,' or moving the head.

"The second is swaying or shifting the body in advance of the arms, thereby spoiling the timing of the swing.

"The third is loss of confidence in making a shot, especially upon the putting green.

"The first of these is a combination of the physical and the mental. More bad shots are made from 'looking up'—not looking at the ball—than any other one factor."

CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, Sept 23 Reports of immense foreign buying in the Pacific northwest gave the wheat market a sudden bulge today just before the close. As a result, prices finished strong ¼ to 1½c above last night. In corn, the outcome varied from 1⅛ decline to a shade advance and for oats from unchanged figures to ⅛c gain. The final range in provisions was 12c off to 7½c up.

As much as 5,000,000 bushels of wheat was said to have been sold for export at Portland, Ore., in the last week, and an equal amount at Tacoma and Seattle. In addition, dispatches from the Oregon city told of steamers there loading flour for England, the first instance of shipments of that kind in a number of years. The coast advices caught the Chicago trade leaning to the bear side and brought on a general flurry among shorts.

Before the surprise the wheat market had been somewhat depressed by the continued piling up of stocks, especially at Minneapolis On the other hand, Winnipeg sent word of prices holding strong and of fresh export buying. There were also assertions that 4,000 sacks of flour had been disposed of at St Louis to go direct to Scotland.

Fine weather and slowness of demand weakened corn In the late dealings, however, the market reflected to a considerable extent the renewed strength of wheat.

Business in oats was curtailed by difficulty in financing European shipments. Price changes were indecisive and of a see-saw character.

In the provision market, demand for lard was fairly good but for meat rather slow Business was confined almost exclusively to the January delivery.

MAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

EAT LESS MEAT IF YOU FEEL BACKACHY OR HAVE BLADDER TROUBLE

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases Adv.

BATTLE OF THE AISNE PROGRESSES SLOWLY, SAYS CORRESPODENT

LONDON, Sept 23.—The correspondent of the Times at Bordeaux has this to say of the big battle that is being waged in France:

"The battle from the Aisne to the Woevre progresses slowly but methodically in favor of the allies Both sides have been engaged the last few days in sending reinforcements and assembling new forces on the firing line. As the reinforcements reached the front the activity of both armies in the Woevre district on the right of the allies' position increases.

"The prediction of the staff on both sides for decisive action on the allies' left must not divert attention from the allies' right which in the present battle constitutes an all important bulwark.

"The operations in Woevre have been more or less at a standstill for some days, as the guns were stuck fast in the clay and innumerable rivulets overflowed have made large tracts of the country impassable. Now the armies are again moving and the Germans are desperately attempting to break the strong natural defenses of the Meuse heights in order to paralyze the allies plans in the center.

"The plains of the Woevre, the scene of the present effort, were made for a battle and the Meuse heights, with their steep scarpment and strengthened by forts, form a barrier of prodigious strength. The northern Woevre lakes lie among green forests and a range of steep hills, crowned with forest, rises amidst this country.

"The enemy is making desperate efforts to dislodge the French forces from this natural fortress which commands an immense sweep of country. In the distance are the heights of Pont-a-Mousson and Maz and the old battlefields of Gravelotte and St. Privas. The enemy attacked, without success the right along the Meuse on the heights from Tresanyux to Herycourt.

"Time fights on the side of the allies whose forces are growing daily from the ends of the earth."

When the bowels feel uncomfortable and you miss the exhilarating feeling that always follows a copious morning operation, a dose of HERBINE will set you right in a couple of hours. If taken at bedtime you get its beneficial effect after breakfast next day. Price 50c. Sold by Hefley-Arcularius Drug Co. Adv.

3,000 JEWS HOMELESS NEAR CONSTANTINOPLE

CONSTANTINOPLE Sept 23.—Eight hundred houses in Jewish quarters of Huskeui on the Golden Horn have been destroyed by fire Three thousand Jews are homeless and in great distress.

The authorities are distributing bread among the stricken. The American ambassador, Henry Morgenthau, actively helped in the organization of relief work.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed With Sulphur It Brings Back Its Luster and Abundance

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the tonic at home or get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully and removes dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger. Adv.

STEFANSSON LOST, SAYS CAPT. BERNARD

NOME, Alaska, Sept. 23.—Captain Joe Bernard of the schooner Teddy Bear, who has just returned from a five year trading and exploring voyage in the Arctic ocean, fears that Vilhjalmur Stefansson, Ole Anderson and Stergen Stergensen, who left Martin point, east of Barter river, March 22, last, heading due north in search of new land, will never be heard from again Stefansson expected to reach Banksland, to the eastward, but Captain Bernard says the ice is and has been moving continually to the westward so that if the adventurous three ever set foot on shore again their first land will be Siberia The ice movement has been rapid the past summer

LONE GERMAN SUBMARINE SANK BRITISR CRUISERS

BERLIN, Sept 23, via wireless to Sayville, L. I.—Reports received by the German admiralty show that the destruction yesterday of three British cruisers in the North sea was accomplished by the German submarine U-9 single-handed

The sinking of the three British armored cruisers, the Aboukir Hogue and Cressy of 12,200 tons each by German submarines, is the big news feature in today's Berlin newspapers Details of the battle are not available

The news was received with particular pleasure, as it served to reconcile the German sailors with the policy imposed on them of higher strategy under which the officers and men of the fleet are chafing despite all admonitions of patience from the newspapers and public opinion.

DIZZY HEAD, FLUTTERING HEART, FLOATING SPECKS.

These are signs of kidney and bladder trouble You'll have headaches too, backaches and be tired all over Don't wait longer, but begin taking Foley Kidney Pills at once. It won't be long before your miserable sick feeling will be gone. You will sleep well eat well and grow strong and active again They are a tonic and your entire system as well as kidneys and bladder will be benefited by their use Try them. Robinson Drug Co Adv.

GERMAN INVASION OF POLAND UNIMPORTANT

LONDON, Sept, 23.—The Daily Transcript's Petrograd correspondent says:

"The Novoe Vremya for the first time today gives information concerning the extent of the German invasion of Russian Poland by announcing that the Germans on September 17 evacuated the towns of Pladistawow, Wolkowashki, Mariampol, Kalwaria and Suwalki. These towns, none of which is more than 30 miles from the frontier, apparently define the high water mark of the German invasion."

The Case of L. L. Cantelou

The case of L L Cantelou, Clarendon, Texas, is similar to that of many others who have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He says, "After trying a doctor for several months, and using different kinds of medicine for my wife, who had been troubled with severe bowel complaint for several months, I bought a 25c bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. After using the second bottle she was entirely cured." For sale by all dealers Adv

WAR FOR THE SAKE OF PEACE

H G Wells in the October Metropolitan."

For this is now a war for peace

It aims straight at disarmament. It aims at a settlement that shall stop this sort of thing forever Every soldier who fights against Germany now is a crusader against war. This, the greatest of all wars, is not just another war; it is the last war. England, France, Italy, Belgium, Spain and all the little countries of Europe, are heartily sick of war; the Czar has expressed a passionate hatred of war, the most of Asia is unwarlike, the United States has no illusions about war And never was war begun so joylessly, and never was war begun with so grim a resolution In England, France, Belgium, Russia there is no thought of glory. We know we face unprecedented slaughter and agonies; we know that for neither side will there be easy triumphs nor prancing victories; already, after a brief fortnight in that warring sea of men, there is famine as well as hideous butchery, and soon there must come disease. Can it be otherwise? We face perhaps the most awful winter that mankind has ever faced. But we English and our allies, who did not seek this catastrophe, face it with anger and determination rather than despair. Through this war we have to march, through pain, through agonies of the spirit worse than pain through seas of blood and filth We English have not had things kept from us We know what war is. We have no delusions. We have read books that tell us of the stench of battlefields, and the nature of wounds books that Germany suppressed and hid from her people And we face these horrors to make an end of them. There shall be no more kaisers, there shall be no more Krupps, we are resolved
